

BOB'S BURGERS

The Jumpchain - version 1.0

(Created by /u/donnellydylan420)

Welcome to the World of Bob's Burgers, in this American Seaside community you'll find plenty of ways to spend the time. You could head to the wharf and check out the various rides and games, maybe even head to the famous Museum of Natural History. Hungry? Why not check out the family run burger restaurant known simply as "Bob's Burgers".

The Belcher family is known by the town for their fierce bond, love for each other and the various antics of their children, Gene, Louise and Tina. Most importantly they're known for the family's staple product, Bob's namesake and his pride and joy, his burgers.

You will be spending ten years in the universe of Bob's Burgers, so to be sure to pay the Belcher's Restaurant a visit, it's not hard to miss, it's located next to a funeral home and crematorium. It's sadly not as busy as it should be, but Bob's wife Linda will be sure to bring a smile with her lovely service and you'll want to check out Bob's latest "Burger of the Day". Plus, if that weird guy who's always there bugs you, there always is another restaurant across the road, just don't tell Bob you're going, he seems to have a problem with the owner...

While visiting this world, you may need a few things to get by, your benefactor is still generous even if this world may not seem challenging, (just don't get on Louise's bad side, she can get creative.) Anyways here's

+1000CP

Origins

Roll 3 D8 + 20 for your age or 1D6 + 9 if you choose the "Belcher Kid" Origin. Gender is the same as your previous jump or your own if this is your first. You may choose both your age and gender freely for 100 CP.

Your starting location will be right outside of the Belcher family restaurant and it seems to be as busy as any other day. You may choose your starting origin for free.

- Drop In

For the Jumper who doesn't like to confuse things

Dropping into this universe means you will have no friends, family or memories, when you start in this world all you'll have is some I.D to prove you're a living breathing thing. You might want to make some friends if you don't want to end up on the streets, the family in this restaurant seems pretty nice.

- The King of Burgers

For the Jumper who loves a good burger

You've been cooking for as long as you can remember, working for your Dad in his diner, but you've always had one true love, Burgers. Over your years of cooking you can say you've certifiably mastered the art of the American Hamburger, you know what toppings work well (even the non traditional ones) and what combinations work well for those toppings. Too, you can keep up when it's busy, handling multiple orders like a pro and still being able to make those burgers as beautiful as you want them to be. While that heart may still love burgers you also something much more important in that heart, your family, while you have your pride in your craft you also take pride in being the best family man you can be, and you'll never miss the call to be there for them (even if you're not the best at the things that aren't burgers.) You may choose to replace Bob in this world, work in the kitchen for the Belcher's (likely for free at first, they don't get much business right now) or at a similar small burger joint.

- Belcher Kid

For the Jumper who wants to have a bit of childish fun again

You haven't been around for very long but your upbringing has been an eventful one, you were raised by a odd but loving couple who run a small burger restaurant, growing up you always tried to help out where you could (sometimes against your will and as a chore) but you've learned a few things from your parents, love, how to have fun and how good burgers can be, you may choose to become the fourth child in the Belcher family and join the Belcher kids in their misadventures or be a close friend of the Belcher Kids as one of their Wagstaff classmates. Have fun with the Belcher trio, Louise will be sure to get you involved in some schemes.

- Loving Mother

For the Jumper who loves their family and loves bringing smiles

You work hard on so many fronts. You work hard as a parent, as a wife (or husband) and bringing service with a smile in your restaurant, patrons will be left with a lovely impression of your loving personality even if it's sometimes a little overbearing, you bring joy and love all around you but a vicious ferocity when your family is in danger, your family always knows they can come to you in a time for need, for your loving support or motherly advice, your family is grateful to have a mom (or dad) like you. You can choose to replace Linda in this world, be another sibling of hers or be the mother of a similar small family in this community.
