

In every generation there is a chosen one.

She alone will stand against the vampires, the demons, and the forces of darkness.

She is the slayer.

Or, you know... maybe not? It's not like these old stories are based on hard facts or science or anything. There's not really any reason to send a lone girl off into the world to protect everyone else from monsters. Sounds a little unfair to her, huh?

Speaking of not heading off alone, you might want to take these with you. Sunnydale is quite a dangerous place for regular folks. You'll need to be ready to fend off a few apocalypses.

Budget

These points can be used to customize yourself, and purchase skills, special abilities, equipment, or even new companions. You keep all the stuff you've gained in previous adventures is retained, even things that don't make sense. Anything you buy you will keep forever, even if you die before this 10 year trip is over.

Identity

A history in this world will be created for you when you choose from the backgrounds below. This choice can grant you knowledge of the world, and additional skills. New memories and personality can effect your reactions to events, but you retain control of your choices. Companions can be imported freely to your profession or as students.

Spare Key

You're the back-up plan. This body for you out of an extra special energy source so appreciate it. You are one of the few things standing between a god of hell from blending all possible realities and unleashing suffering across dimensions. The mentally ill recognize you on sight as something unworldly. Soon you won't be the only one though, so Glorificus might not come for your head. Proximity to the slayer should keep you safe. On that note you'll be inserted into the family of one of the school attending protagonists as a sibling. Memories of your family will be modified to think you've been here all your life. They're used to your personality, but aren't aware of any special powers you might have. You still have no better idea of who anyone is than before you showed up though.

- + No memories impeding your judgement
- Another key will still show up, evil god wants your blood
- No new memories to help you fit in the world

Age: 12 plus 1d8

Initiative Member

You've trained with the military and were quickly considered for a special unit not only for your impressive physical capabilities, but your uncompromising attitude to never deviate from orders as well. You were vaguely amused when you were told that your new assignment would involve hunting down dangerous hostile sub-terrestrials, but it turned out to be true in the end. The operation is top-secret though, with the entire facility being hidden beneath a local campus. For some unfathomable reason the government feels it necessary for you to lead a double life and you'll have to masquerade as a student or teacher's assistant until your cover is blown. You would never consider purposely revealing your secret identity.

- + Excellent training in modern weaponry and tactics.
- + Government backing for fighting or killing monsters
- You do what you're told when you're told to do it

Age: 17 plus 1d8

100cp

Age

Possible ages are determined by background. If you pay 50cp you can choose whatever age you want within the rollable range.

White Hat

Right now, you're a perfectly average student living a perfectly average life. You've very involved in worrying about the social hierarchy of the school - though not so much participating as just wishing you were more of a participant. Not exceptionally popular nor unpopular leaves you in some kind of middle group without any exciting stereotypical labels attached. You aren't involved in any clubs or extracircular activities. Lack of socialization has left you with a lot of time for schoolwork and you have very good grades. Naturally your parents will expect you to maintain this performance. They are going to become increasingly demanding (or maybe it's just your teenage attitude) and attempt to get you involved more in school activities and the community. Plus they'll pick out new friends for you if they don't like yours (they won't).

- You live in a town full of monstrosities and inept adults.

Age: 16 - Return to high school education.

Physical Age: 18 plus 1d8 50cp

Watcher

Raised in merry old England, you have the full training required of a watcher and were considered quite capable to serve as a guardian for a slayer should a back-up be necessary. The male-dominated environment makes it difficult to gain recognition as a woman and you may be accused of resorting to dark magic if you do better than sexist peers. Your high academic performance combined with the authority granted to you has left you feeling quite imperious. Regardless, you are quite capable and The Council has seen fit to send you to Sunnydale to ensure the training of their newest slayer progresses smoothly. This is in a strictly undercover capacity, you'll understand. They don't want Mr. Giles or the slayer to know they're being evaluated. Job pay is poor, might need to moonlight.

- + Well educated on demons and how to fight them.
- Somewhat overbearing and possibly a little sexist
- Expected to answer to the Watcher's Council

Age: 15 plus 4d8

Wolfram & Hart Lawyer

You're an anomaly, and the Senior Partners know it. They've provided you with an attractive body that no one else seemed to be using at the moment. They have high hopes for you, and are giving you a cozy office and home in Sunnydale, though you still belong to the L.A. branch and will need to answer to them for any blunders. Your job is to actively support wealthy demons and maintain their reputation as well as cover up blatant demonic activity that occurs in town. You're not under contract, but betraying the Senior Partners is ill advised. A substantial bonus will be provided if your actions lead to the death of one Buffy Summers as her presence threatens your clientelle. A much more significant amount of money will be yours if you can make ensouled vampires loyal to Wolfram & Hart. You must never allow violent actions to be traced back to the firm.

- + degree in law, and the knowledge to use
- + only influences your memory if you request it
- closely monitored by powerful demonic forces

Age: 21 plus 1d8 100cp

Demon

Also referred to as hostile sub-terrestrials by a certain underground military operation, most demons are bad to the bone. Demons are meant for slaying and you certainly shouldn't want to be one. By demon standards, you are incredibly young and inexperienced. To complicate matters, unlike most demons you are in the embarrassingly situation of playing host to a identifiably human soul. Having a soul won't mean anything to a majority of the underworld, but those that know about your condition may torture you with as much delight as they would any human. You're still physically and mentally a lot more demonic. It will be very difficult to unsettle you with violence or deeply evil acts. Hell, you might even discover you find some enjoyment in the suffering of the innocent. Several species can be chosen.

- + You maintain your human soul.
- + You may gain enjoyment from harming humans
- Soul may hinder advancement working with demons

Age: 17 plus 1d8

200cp

Sex

Your gender does not change from what it was previously. You may pay 50cp to change it. Some powers may be restricted by gender.

Location

Roll a 1d8 to determine location. If the result is between 1 and 8, you're in Sunnydale! You arrive the same day Buffy moves into town.

Demonic Heritage

If you selected demon as an origin you choose one of the demon varieties listed below. You may only select one type from this page. Combinations are impossible. If the species can pass for human it will be marked by an Angel Investigations symbol. Extra d8s on some demons may indicate advanced age, or age since becoming a demon.

Vampire

Extreme vulnerability to sunlight and holy water is not without its perks. You have enhanced strength, speed, stamina, agility, reflexes, perception, and quickly recover from most wounds. You have no need for proper bloodflow or air. You no longer age, but can still be killed by decapitation and pointy sticks to the heart. Crosses burn you on contact and you can't enter homes uninvited.

+7d8 years

Loose-Skinned Demon

As a loose-skinned demon, you are unsurprisingly covered in a lot of excess flesh. Flaps and folds are everywhere. However, from between these folds you can let out your tentacles to traumatize opponents. You can feed off emotions (particularly embarrassment) but don't let that stop you from enjoying delicious human food or pets. Loose-Skinned demons tend to be relaxed and nonviolent.

Free

Fyarl Demon

Burden of intellect too much for you? Worry no longer. Fyarl Demons, though having superhuman strength and an imposing physique, are rather dumb. But they can fire a paralyzing mucus at foes from their nose, which dries into a very hard and durable substance. Very vulnerable to silver. You'll have red skin and large curved horns. Curved. Horns.

+7d8 years

Hanoch Demon

Thin, humanoids with blueish-grey skin, shining green eyes, clawed hands and horns all over their body. They can emit high pitched screeches and release mist from their mouths. This mist can solidify into an impenetrable force-field so long as you keep your mouth open and do nothing else but maintain it. Killed via decapitation or a good staking.

Spider Demon

Why settle for just two arms when you could have ten? Spider demons have eight additional retractable spider-like arms they can extend from their backs. Other than this, they appear completely human. They have all the writing talent of Stephanie Meyer, sometimes this skill is even heightened to average fan-fiction writer level. Their additional arms make them great melee combatants.

Half-Brachan Demon

You've got green skin, red eyes, and blue spikes covering your face. You have improved strength, stamina, speed, and senses - including detect magical objects by scent. Extreme dexterity allows you to fake broken limbs (and neck). You were brought up human and only discovered your demonic blood after reaching adulthood. Your abilities are lowered to that of a human in human form.

Thricewise

So you want to be a large, tentacled, three-eyed mollusk-like monstrosity huh? I guess the innate talent for magic and the ability to assume a human form help offset that. Generally friendlier than a lot of other demons too. You can get away with passing for a student at Sunnydale High.

Nitobe

The ability to generate blades of energy is a unique quality of Nitobe Demons. They are a species of warriors with a code of honour who repay those who help them. Due to their just and polite nature, they are strongly disliked by other groups of demons. Physically they have maroon skin, red eyes with yellow whites, and large bulbous noses.

Deathwok Demon

Complete immunity to the effects of non-magical alcohol. But don't let that stop you; they also have aura reading, telepathy, empathy, lie detection, and even fate reading when listening to others sing. Deathwok Demons even survive dismemberment so long as vital organs are not mutilated, able to use piercing screeches to fight off foes.

"Justice" Demon

You work in an office-like hell where you will need to meet some quotas on the amount of suffering you inflict upon the world. You can choose a specific type of victim to cater to for granting wishes of vengeance on loved ones. They can sense feelings of vengeance from immense distances and as long as they do 'good' work they can teleport, use telekinesis, and have superhuman strength, durability, and agelessness.

Mohra Demon

Your regenerative blood grants virtual immortality in the sense that it will bring you back to life a while after you die, but this requires vast quantities of salt to replenish. Smashing the red jewel on your forehead will also kill you. You have excellent swordsmanship training combined with strength and speed. As a Mohra Demon your clan raised as an enemy of The Powers That Be and their agents.

Evil Eye Zombie Demon Thingy

Bound to a mask, you are still nonetheless powerful. Your main strength lies in reanimation: the power to raise any dead creature as a zombie within a certain radius of influence and attracting them to you. When worn you can completely take over the body of your wearer. You can emit a paralyzing, blinding flash of light from your eyes that completely stuns opponents when worn.

Polgara Demon

Turn every enemy into a shishkebab. This new body has extendable arm skewers that easily pierce body armour. Polgara demons are typically unintelligent and need to eat often. You look like a mix of human and reptile; the more reptilian your appearance the less often you must feed. They have very sharp senses, particularly sight.

Werewolf

Incredibly heightened senses, even in human form. You can identify and follow scents and determine emotion from it. During the full moon they lose control and seek out humans to devour. It is possible to learn to control when transformations occur and even learn to control the wolf inside yourself. When in wolf form you are very strong, fast, and tough.

Swell

Appearance of cute fluffy blue plush cat toys and can quite easily pass as harmless stuffed creatures. Capable of merging with multiple other swell to create a hive-mind massive monster. They can force themselves into the mouths of people to possess them. If a host is forced to vomit you will be expelled from the body. They are prone to misogynist speak and random acts of violence.

Harmony Kendall. You won't necessarily be friends with her, but each and every day she can easily interact with you she'll spend a good deal of time doing so. It won't be all day, or even hours of your day usually. She just shows up and acts like herself. You are completely incapable of bringing harm to her. She cannot be ended for the duration of your time here.

The Body

You are guaranteed to make some close friends. At some point every year, you are also guaranteed to lose someone you care about. They cannot be revived by any means until your ten years here have concluded. Some will be killed in ways that make it impossible for retribution, with the killer being something mundane heart attacks or perhaps even an accidental/necessary death by your hand.

The Perfect Heart

The Gentlemen are coming to collect. They will keep coming, forever, as often as they can make visits from hell, anyway. At least you get advanced warning when the entire area loses their voices. Also there is likely to be a lot of collateral since The Gentlemen can take up to six other hearts each time they appear. Knowing you're in the area, they won't settle for a seventh heart that isn't yours.

You're gonna die screaming but you won't be heard. +300CP
