Limited Scope +500 CP

This Drawback can only be purchased before starting any Mini-Jumps or Scenarios with it being active for the duration of every mini-jump and scenario in this document.

The power level of this setting is more "Grounded" limiting the power of all individuals and entities within the world to the scale of power shown in the Movies.

This makes the world itself more mundane by making it so that it was always round and did not become so during the second age, it retroactively erases powerful entries normally hidden, disinterested or absent from the war of the rings such as removing the nameless things normally consuming the pillars of the world from within the depths of Arda and vanishing Underhill along with Tom Bombadil and his wife Goldberry.

This also retroactively alters the divine cosmology so that those known as gods such as the Valar and Moregoth are merely powerful beings deified for their actions rather than being true Divinity and it makes it so that the Ainur are merely powerful magical beings rather than the Angel like creatures restricted in power and form.

While the strength and power they possess are still extraordinary the powers that good and evil can wield within this setting will be far less impressive than that shown within the Silmarillion.

Pre-Trilogy Scenario

In this Scenario you will be placed within an identical copy of Middle-Earth as it was the moment the fellowship of the rings started, but this world is empty of all creatures, undead and life other than non-sentient plants.

This Scenario functions like a Gauntlet disabling all out of jump Perks, Powers, Items and Companions other than Body Mods.

You will start this scenario in the Hobbit Hole of Bilbo Baggins with the One Ring in your hand, to complete this scenario you must travel to Mordor and drop the one ring into the lava of Mount Doom.

If you die or can not complete this Scenario within 10 Years it will count as a failure.

Rewards:

For completing this Scenario you gain +500 CP to save or spend anywhere in this document and the Ring of The Stonefoots.

Ring of The Stonefoots

This Ring is a copy of the ring of a Dwarf Lord and is disconnected from the one ring. While wearing this ring you can envelop your feet in cushions of air. While this makes it so that your body never tires from walking and each step is soft and comfortable, its main function is to let you walk through the air as though stepping on stones.

The Siege of Barad-dûr

When taking this Scenario you will awaken the night before the Siege of Barad-dûr starts at the end of the Second Age as a soldier of your selected race.

Unlike the canonical events in this Scenario, Isildur and his father have both died before the story began.

To complete this scenario you must remove the One Ring from the hand of Sauron severing his spirit in the process.

Though the canonical Siege lasted seven years you end the battle sooner or take longer however taking longer than 10 years will count as a Scenario Failure.

These events will not be canon to your Mini-Jump's.

Rewards:

For completing this Scenario and defeating Sauron, you gain +500 CP to save or spend anywhere in this document, the Perk We are both, Elves and Men, in Arda and of Arda and the Ring of The Ironfists.

We are both, Elves and Men, in Arda and of Arda

When you start a Jump you can use this Narrative Perk to enter as both a Drop-In and a Character-Insert. If a jump has multiple entrance points such as a Mini-Jump Compilation you may only use this Perk once and all other entry points will require you to pick one or the other.

Ring of The Ironfists

This Ring is a copy of the ring of a Dwarf Lord and is disconnected from the one ring. While wearing this ring you can envelop your flesh in the power of the ring. This makes it so that any blow your body takes is reduced as though wearing armor and any unarmed strike you make is reinforced as though using a magical weapon.

The Sacking of Erebor

In this Scenario you will awaken within the depths of the Lonely Mountain within the public area furthest from all exits as Smaug descended upon the mountain.

This Scenario functions like a Gauntlet disabling all out of jump Perks, Powers, Items and Companions other than Body Mods.

To complete this Scenario within ten years you must escape the Lonely Mountain with your life and reach the Iron Hills.

While Smaug will not target you specifically he will slaughter any Dwarf he comes across.

Rewards:

For completing this Scenario you gain +500 CP to save or spend anywhere in this document and the Ring of The Firebeards.
