

The Snow Day Supplement

By: u/PriorPossible834

“Jumper!”

“Jumper, Wake Up! It’s a Snow Day!”

You startle awake from where you had been resting- it had just been a night like any other in your latest Jump... but now that you’ve woken up you’re sitting in whatever you call that space between worlds where you meet with your benefactor.

It’s then that you notice this vast cosmic space is full of... snow? The hell?

“I told you silly it’s a Snow Day!”

You’ve only just registered your Jump-Chan’s words from before- and the implications are... interesting, first off you had no idea it could snow here... second you hadn’t expected to have to put your Jump on hold for the day while your Benefactor takes a vacation.

“Stop overthinking things and come have a snowball fight with me!”

*You’re completely shaken from your reverie when your nigh-on omnipotent Jump-Chan hurls a snowball at your head- forcing a grin to your face It’s On

What Activities Will You Do With Jump-Chan For The Snow Day?

Your chain has been put on hold for the day while you celebrate the coming of the Snow, your Jump-Chan has a selection of activities for you two to do- you can choose as many of these to do as you want for each one you do you get One Winter Fun Token.

Snowball Fight

The Snowball Fight you and your Benefactor have already started, Jump-Chan has shown her incredible benevolence by turning off all her innumerable powers that would normally cause her to simply automatically win the game- but she's still inhumanly accurate and has a eerie tendency to phase out of reality every third hit.

"Gosh you're bad at this~"

Sledding

Sledding down the Infinite Mountain, an ancient tradition for Benefactors! The farther down you go the faster your sled will go and the more obstacles you'll have to evade. Jump-Chan will rescue you if you crash or feel the need to tap out... she's definitely not scoring your performance against past Jumpers.

"Last one to the bottom is a rotten Egg!"

Caroling

This one... is actually a little dangerous and you should be careful if you're not a very strong Jumper yet, you'll be going Christmas Caroling with Jump-Chan as she visits innumerable cosmic terrors and ancient gods. Expect people like DC's Endless to be stop one and for things to only escalate from there.

"Jumper... I appreciate you coming with me but you need to use at least three tongues to sing that verse without insulting Azazoth's mother"

Hot Cocoa Contest

Jump-Chan impulsively challenged you to make your best cup of Hot Cocoa... Interestingly, she seemed to like it a lot more than you could have expected even if you don't have any cooking perks yet. After this happened she forced you to come along with her on a grand quest to find the best possible ingredients so she could make a better one.

"My pride as a cosmic entity rests on this Jumper! ... Please don't walk away, this is serious!"

Christmas Cookie Tasting

Jump-Chan made 50,000,000 different flavors of Christmas Cookie and wants you to try at least 1,000,000 of them (Don't worry she'll protect you from any negative health effects if you can't do that yourself yet.)

"Ooh! Ooh! This one is really good!"

What Will Jump-Chan Give You As A Reward?

You didn't think those Tokens were just keepsakes did you? You see Jump-Chan really appreciates you being a good sport so she'll let you shop this section of special perks just this once.

Day Off (-1)

Once every Jump you may have a 'Day Off' where absolutely nothing 'plot-relevant' will happen, your enemies won't scheme, your own schemes won't go through it will just be a relaxed easy day for you and your friends. This perk may be purchased multiple times to get more Days Off.

Survivor Of Jump-Chan's Caroling (-1)

You're quite the singer Jumper... not only do you have great tone and pitch, you can pronounce anything you say or sing perfectly first try 100% of the time. This perk also makes your singing more pleasing to the Eldritch or otherwise alien.

Spirit Of The Season (-2)

Once a Year you can make a mean ol' villain's heart grow three sizes, or in other words you have the ability to graft a conscience onto one person every year around Christmas Time, this is guaranteed to stick and will make anyone it's used on a better person.

Joyful Heart (-2)

Jump-Chan really is amazing isn't she? She's seen so much in her long life and yet she can still bring herself to play and have fun like this- and more than that she can even drag grumpy Jumpers like you into the fun, and now you've got the same trait.

No matter what you experience in life you'll always have the same capacity for fun and joy as a small child, in addition your joy is contagious even helping heal others from deep seated trauma and spiritual or magical corruption.

Winter Miracle (-3)

Snow Days are the answer to numerous children's prayers every year... and that residual faith has a power of its own, one that can manifest on Snowy Days. Now whenever it snows you have the ability to grant one completely unselfish wish to anyone of your choice- this snow can't have been caused by your own abilities, no cheating.

Winter Magic (-3)

You have a brand of Magic focused around thematically Winter Based abilities, this magic will get stronger as you do scaling with you and getting more and more conceptual as you get stronger, eventually you will evolve into a sort of 'Winter Spirit' taking that role in the metaphysics of whatever worlds you visit.

...What's This?

A Kiss (-5)

A light and, weirdly enough, warm kiss is planted on your cheek as you and Jump-Chan come in from your time together... as you look over at her in shock you see your omnipotent benefactor is... blushing.

“Don't read into it! I was just... grateful you wanted to spend time with me is all... and I wouldn't mind if you came next year...”

