

Command and Conquer Tiberium Wars Jump

By Fallout10mm

Version 1.1

The year is 2047, the Third Tiberium War is weeks away from erupting, starting with the destruction of the GDI space station Philadelphia and Nod invading the Blue Zones. The Brotherhood of Nod launches a worldwide offensive against the Global Defense Initiative, abruptly ending seventeen years of silence and crippling GDI forces everywhere. With the odds tipped in the Brotherhood's favour this time, GDI field commanders rally their troops and begin to combat Nod's second re-emergence, trying to restore lost hope. You start this jump two months before the Nod offensive begins, in a base controlled by the faction you join, in Blue Zone 01 US East Coast for GDI or at Temple Prime in Sarajevo for Nod.

Here's 1000cp to help you survive the coming war.

Origins

Age may be anything over 18 and under 60, gender may be chosen for free. Any origin may be used as a Drop in, with whatever faction you choose assuming you're a new/recent recruit.

Civilian (free): One of the huddled and nameless masses of the world, easily swayed by the propaganda of both sides.

Soldier (free): One of the rank and file amongst the factions, raised in an enclave sympathetic to one of the factions, when you turned 18 you signed up with them.

Scientist (free): Wars are not only fought with soldiers, but with weapons developed by scientists like you.

Factions

Global Defense Initiative (GDI): Originally a UN peace keeping organization, the GDI's power and influence have grown immensely since the first Tiberium War, and they are now the De Facto government for most of the planet.

Brotherhood of Nod (Nod): Primarily based in 3rd world countries, the Brotherhood of Nod proclaims to fight for the common people oppressed by the GDI. They are experts in hit and run tactics and have an extremely well developed propaganda machine.

General Perks

Tiberium Immunity (free for here, 200cp to keep): Tiberium poisoning is extremely painful and usually deadly. Thanks to its spread throughout the world (thanks in no small part to the brotherhood) it wouldn't be very fair to not give you a margin of safety. If you pay the 200cp to keep it, Tiberium heals you, and you're also highly resistant to other exotic and not so exotic materials, such as radioactive, and corrupting energies.

Bald of Awesome (50cp) : Like Kane, you're attractive with or without hair, and any facial hair enhances this effect. Can be bought multiple times for additional effect.

Civilian

I Can Fix That! (100cp): Repairing damaged buildings, vehicles and equipment comes second nature to you. You can also make do with substandard resources and tools without a drop in efficiency.

Beneath Notice (200cp) Makes you be perceived as weak and harmless, not even worth the energy to attack, though this protection only extends as long as you aren't an active threat, such as participating in combat. Toggleable.

Tiberium Regeneration (400cp): Same as the paid for version of Tiberium Immunity above, but also tiberium has a regenerative effect on you. Post jump this regeneration is slightly reduced but is in constant effect even without tiberium.

Salvage perk (600cp): There's a lot of abandoned bases, vehicles and equipment just laying around, especially in the major combat zones. You now have the ability to make effective use out of outdated equipment and vehicles, as well as the ability to diagnose, repair/salvage anything of value.

Soldier

Basic Training (100cp): Getting to and staying in shape is all part of being a soldier. Peak physical conditioning and years of training, basic tactics and strategies.. All training is now three times more effective. Staying in shape is a breeze with this.

Army of One (200cp): You have a talent for breaking into, stealing and piloting vehicles all by yourself. You can crew most vehicles single handedly. When fully crewed, vehicles under your direct command are much more efficient, moving, and firing faster.

Commando Training (400cp): Extensive training in infiltration, demolition, assassination and just causing problems for your enemies in general. You can headshot infantry at 100 meters with a pistol using your off hand, and find critical weaknesses in enemy structures, allowing you to destroy them with a few well placed explosives.

The Art of War (600cp): What other commanders would need an entire task force for, you can accomplish with a bunch of raw recruits, and outdated equipment. Coming up with and executing cunning plans, complex maneuvers that all require exact timing are a cinch for you

Scientist

Field Expert (100cp): Pick an existing field of science or engineering, you are now an expert in that field with 20 years of experience. This updates with similar knowledge in future jumps

Results Driven (200cp): While they won't openly admit it, GDI is willing to look the other way when it comes to less than ethical research, so long as it gets results. As long as you produce some usable research, organizations that would normally have you arrested ignore any ethical or moral violations you make in the pursuit of knowledge.

Tiberium Specialist (400cp): Being in close proximity with tiberium carries all sorts of nasty side effects and potential accidents are always a risk. This perk guarantees you'll know all the relevant safety procedures dealing with such possibilities and how to combat them. It also prevents accidents from happening under your watch.

Mobius Intellect (600cp): Tiberium is very interesting, its properties have caused scientists to reconsider the very laws of physics. You have a special knack for discovering new uses for tiberium and other exotic substances, creating entirely new technologies with both military and civilian applications.

Faction Perks

You may choose one of the subfactions for your main faction for additional discounts.

GDI:

Power Through Peace (200cp, discount GDI): The GDI has been dominant for years, and through that dominance the world has prospered. The more powerful and numerous your forces, the more stable the territory under your control is. Less crime, corruption, harder for insurgents such as Nod to infiltrate.

Counter Insurgency (400cp, discount GDI): From its inception the GDI has been fighting a (largely) asymmetrical war against Nod. You excel at Counter Insurgency operations, and when you destroy the majority of an organization, they'll fall apart and never recover. This power may be applied to any organization you are part of as a whole.

Lead By Example (600cp, discount GDI): Any battles you participate in that end in victory has a cascading effect on your side. No matter how badly morale should be, allied forces will rally at the news, making them fight harder and turning narrow defeats into decisive victories. The closer the power/strength of the forces, the more of an effect it has.

The Steel Talons were an experimental technology division of GDI after the second tiberium war. They were the pioneers of equipping railgun technology as standard amongst their forces.

Super Prototype (200cp, discount Steel Talons): Despite their experimental nature, prototype weapons and equipment never malfunction in your hands, and any faults in a design are readily apparent, as are cheap and easy work-arounds.

ZOCOM or Zone Operations Command, is a GDI division specializing in operating in heavily tiberium contaminated zones. They're notable for utilizing unique and devastating sonic weaponry. GDI forces who find the alien environments of the Red Zones invigorating quickly find themselves assigned to ZOCOM.

Zone Mentality (200cp, discount, ZOCOM): You are unnaturally alert when in hazardous areas, such as Red Zones. Surprise attacks fail to catch you off guard, allowing you to quickly react at a moment's notice to incoming fire.

Nod:

Peace Through Power (200cp, discount Nod): Stealth and subterfuge is Nod's specialty, and now it's yours too. Leading a ragtag resistance against an overwhelming enemy is old hat to you. You know how to hit them where it hurts: supply trains, prototype research facilities, under defended bases and targets of opportunity. Propaganda comes very easily to you.

From The Ashes (400cp, discount Nod): Time and time again, the Brotherhood has been destroyed by the GDI, only to return years later stronger than ever. Any organization you are part of gains this ability, able to scrounge up new recruits, resources and technology to return to its former power after being seemingly destroyed.

You Can't Kill The Messiah! (600cp, discount Nod): Like Kane you have a tendency to somehow survive the unsurvivable. Once per jump or every 10 years when you would otherwise die, you will instead be transported to safety and healed of any injuries.

Black Hand: Founded as a covert ops group within the brotherhood, after Kane's apparent death during the second tiberium war the Black Hand became a fanatical religious organization that rejected the use of stealth technology and favoring flame weaponry.

Purifying Flame (200cp, discount Black Hand): The Black Hand have a fanatical fascination with flame weaponry, developing new types of fuel that allow them to melt even the hardest tank armor in mere moments. When you use an incendiary weapon, it deals much more damage then it would in anyone else's hands.

Marked of Kane: Cyborg cult within the brotherhood of Nod that went underground after the Firestorm Crisis. They willingly turned themselves into hulking mindless cybernetic super soldiers all enslaved to Kane's Will.

Cyborg Enhanced Physiology (200cp, discount Marked Of Kane): The Nod Cybernetics Division has made you tougher, faster and stronger than any human. Your muscle and skeletal structures enable you to carry and fire heavy weapons with ease and your skin has become tough enough to shrug off small arms fire. Externally you look no different than any other human.

Items

400cp stipend, 100cp items are free for their faction with 50% of the others/additional purchases. All weapons come with 12 magazines worth of ammo that refills daily. All items will respawn in the warehouse within 24 hours if Lost/Stolen/Destroyed.

GDI items

GDI gets a 50% discount for the following items, with 100cp items free.

Smart Grenade Pack (100cp): Issued to gdi grenadiers, these grenades use miniature thrusters and ai guidance to home in on hostiles in remote positions with deadly precision. This pack also has EMP grenades that disable vehicles and electronics. 20 regular and 10 emp grenades, respawns daily.

Zone Trooper's Kit (400cp): Powered combat armor that is heavily resistant to small arms fire, environmentally sealed. Has an integrated Jump Pack and comes with advanced scanners and an onboard medical system that can treat most injuries. Also comes with a deadly if somewhat slow firing miniaturized railgun, can pierce tank armor with ease. Quite heavy and usually requires zone trooper armor or a backpack to power it.

Zone Raider Kit (400cp) : Lighter weight then the Zone Trooper armor, the zone raider armor is much more mobile and comes with an integrated aspect seeking missile system on each shoulder, as well as a jump pack, advanced sensors and onboard medical system. Also included is a Sonic grenade launcher, based on the same technology as the shatterer, this weapon rapidly fires sonic grenades that are highly damaging to infantry and light vehicles.

Commando Kit (400cp): A heavy body armour made of Kevlar5 over a Mitsubishi elasticized polymer ceramic core, with a Data General Rugged System (DGRS) Sensor fusion helmet system and a hard point mounting system with an integrated Dai Nippon Skunk Works PCS/Jenner jump jet unit. Much lighter than a Zone trooper's armor but not environmentally sealed. For weapons you also get a GD Rail Carbine Rapid fire railgun that cuts through infantry armor like a hot knife through butter and can even damage light vehicles significantly and a bag of Detpacks, a next generation explosive that with proper placement, can destroy buildings and walkers with ease.

Alternatively for an additional 100cp you may get the canceled GD-10 Modular weapon system and Integrated Combat Suit, which were to be given to GDI's commandos after the third tiberium war.. The weapon can switch between 4 different modes: Magnetic Rail Gun: Standard rapid fire mode, small damage. Multiple Launch System (MLS): Fires four surface-to-air missiles simultaneously at up to four targets. Grenade Launcher: Launches grenades, holding the trigger suspends and rolls the grenade using a gravity pulse. Ion Cannon: Powerful miniature ion cannon, used to destroy heavy targets. High accuracy and range allows its use as a sniper weapon. The suit is largely composed of the same as the normal commando armor, but is environmentally sealed, has hardened comms and the same onboard medical suite as the Zone trooper armor.

Vehicles

Pitbull (100cp): Lightly armored scout used by GDI, Equipped with advanced sensors, a missile rack that can target and track both ground and air targets and an 80mm automatic mortar system.

Guardian APC (200cp): Developed after the second tiberium war, this six wheeled transport can carry up to 10 infantry who can fire their personal weapons from the numerous firing ports in the passenger area. Equipped with a remotely operated twin heavy machinegun turret that can engage both ground and air targets, and mine laying equipment that allows them to seed a minefield in seconds. Yours comes with armor piercing ammo that doubles the penetration against hardened targets.

M6 Predator (200cp): 65 ton Main battle tank for GDI, replaced the Titan walker due to the later's excessive weight, slow speed, maintenance costs and vulnerability to commandos. Normally equipped with a 150mm cannon, coaxial machine gun, and a missile pod, yours has been upgraded to use an anti-vehicle railgun that's devastating to even the heaviest armor. You may alternatively get the Bull tank, equipped with the same armament as the Predator, it uses the same drive system later used for the Mammoth mk3, has a smaller profile and is light enough to be air dropped by most GDI aircraft.

V-35 Ox transport (100cp): GDI's replacement for the Orca carry-all. Lightly armored and unarmed this VTOL aircraft comes with a infantry transport pod that can carry up to 10 infantry or without the pod, carry most gdi vehicles barring the MARV

Hallucination grenades(100cp): Chemical grenades utilizing an unknown compound that are currently being used by Nod Confessors leading Militia squads. They can make any enemy soldier panic and hallucinate that his allies are his enemies, and they will in turn attack their former allies, or even on occasion, themselves. Even Zone Troopers are affected, which implies that the grenades are capable of either penetrating armor, or getting through any atmosphere filtration system in effect. 30 grenades that respawn daily.

Equipped with two high pressure flame throwers mounted on a turret with 360 degrees of movement. Excellent for clearing out entrenched infantry, though its weapons are not very effective against heavy armor.

Avatar (400cp): 10 meter tall bipedal Nod mech, the pilot is neurally linked to the unit, allowing them to control it like their own body. Equipped with a miniaturized Nod Obelisk laser, a stealth field generator, enhanced sensors and a shoulder mounted flamethrower. For 200 cp less you can instead get the Purifier prototype, which lacks the sensors and stealth field.

Excellent for clearing out entrenched infantry, though its weapons are not very effective against heavy armor. Each purchase comes in a pack of four. Black Hand gets one purchase free.

Scenarios:

Scenario: The Third Tiberium War

You're the respective commander for one of the sides during the third tiberium war.

Reward: Additional 300cp to spend on anything in the jump

Scenario: Kane's Wrath

You take the place of the AI LEGION, and are tasked with reuniting Nod after the second tiberium war, and recovering the tacitus.

Reward: Additional 300cp to spend on anything in the jump

Drawbacks

History Import toggle: +0cp

Start in Redzone +200cp: Red Zones make up approximately 30% of the earth's surface, completely abandoned by both GDI and NOD the only life forms that survive out here are the Forgotten Mutants and various tiberium lifeforms such as Visceroids that live amongst the long decaying ruins. You may start in any redzone on earth.

Most Wanted (+200cp/+400cp): GDI or Nod have you at the top of their hitlists and will always be gunning for you. For 400cp both factions have it out for you, though they'll focus on each other first.

Kane's Attention (+200cp): Your nature as a jumper is known by Kane, who wishes to abduct and experiment on you. He won't focus entirely on you unless you also take Most Wanted (Nod/Both).

Raw Recruits (+400cp): Instead of fully trained units, you'll get a bunch of green recruits that haven't even passed basic training yet. Good luck training them up. Cannot be taken with Standing Alone.

Standing Alone (+600cp) For a not insignificant amount of cp, you may opt out of the Army builder and Base builder sections.

The Scirin Are Back +600cp: The Scirin invasion is in reality a tiberium harvesting operation mostly conducted by robotic mining units and light escorts. After repulsing the invasion GDI determined a second invasion would likely occur and prepared though by 2077 this still had not occurred. Well that changes now, the Scirin will be back in 5 years and have brought even more devastating forces to bear, intent on crushing GDI and NOD and harvesting all of Earth's tiberium.

Well it's been 10 years and you've survived (or not) another jump. All drawbacks are revoked and you now have a choice but first you have the option of removing any unwanted tiberium from yourself, companions, items and warehouse, just in case some managed to sneak in without your knowledge.

Battlefield Control Terminated: Had enough? Time to head home then. Have another 1000cp as a going away present to buy whatever you want from here before you leave.

Establishing Battlefield Control: You wish to stay? Well that's your choice, have another 1000cp to spend on whatever you want here, you're probably gonna need it.

Mission Accomplished: Continue Jumping, maybe we'll see you again?

Notes:

1. Yes I know there was a tiberium wars jump already, but it was kinda....lacking.
2. As a courtesy, all tiberium contamination will be removed once the jump is complete, with tiberium fields continuing to produce a nontoxic form of tiberium that refuses to spread. Tiberium based weaponry will continue to work as normal but the crystals will not result in new tiberium fields forming. Wouldn't want you accidentally destroying other worlds now (this is optional).
3. Importing your armies is similar units to similar units (See Command and Conquer Supplement for more details).
4. Importing your base means you can update the old buildings with new functions and gain new structures. If for instance you imported your tiberium sun base, you probably don't need to buy another war factory, but doing so gives you another structure with manufacturing capabilities and storage. (See Command and Conquer Supplement for more details)
5. Yes some of the upgrades and items do more then they do in game but it makes more sense this way.
6. I copied most of the drawbacks and faction perks from my tiberium sun jump since, well A: It's the same universe and they still fit perfectly (abit with a little rewording), and B: it was my goddam jump anyway so I'm allowed to copy :P.
7. Bases come with a small defense force and staff but they will not leave the base.

Version History:

1.0: First release.

1.1: Reduced Upgrade point stipend, discounts for upgrades for same faction, added description to GD-2 Rifle, Clarified that companions don't get stipends, minor capitalization errors fixed, added note 7, reduced scenario reward to 300, reduced companion cp to 800.

Scirin Scenario WIP Ignore!

Welcome back, Foreman 371. Icor LQ detonation detected on previously seeded planet. Initiating Harvesting Procedures.

Scirin origin

Scirin body: ???????

Reaper subfaction

A death cult

Traveler subfaction

Scirin Army builder

Scirin Base Builder

Drone Ship: Technically a vehicle

Foundry

Portal: Infantry Production facility

Extractor:

WarpSphere: Ground unit production facility

Gravity Stabilizer: Air unit production facility,

Nerve Center: Functions similarly to a GDI Command Post or Nod Operations Center, providing the base with accurate radar and communications.

Stasis Chamber: Poorly understood by GDI and NOD, this structure seems to generate a temporal stasis field, freezing the target in time. Units and structures affected by this are invulnerable but can't move, attack or otherwise function until the field collapses.

Technology Assembler

Signal Transmitter

Rift Generator: Scirin Superweapon, opens a wormhole linked to deep space, creating a powerful vortex that sucks in everything in a large radius.

Buzzer Hive: Scirins anti infantry defense, releases swarms of buzzers that seek and destroy enemy infantry, cutting to pieces easily. Spawns up to 3 buzzer swarms at a time.

Photon Cannon: Scirin Anti armor base defense that despite its name fires bursts of plasma disks similar to the plasma missile battery. While it cannot target aircraft it does make short work of vehicles and while less effective, can wear down infantry as well.

Plasma Missile Battery: Scirin anti air defence, fires searing hot plasma disks that melt through armor.

Storm Collum: Scirin Advanced base defense that can target both air and ground units by generating a localised Ion storm. Scirin Aircraft can use these localised storms to help power their systems, even repairing damage.

Warp Chasm

Scirin powers

Reconstruction drones: Teleports a small swarm of automated repair drones that can repair friendly Scirin infantry and vehicles. Disappear after a short period of time.

Lightning Spike: Teleport a 2 story tall self powered ground defense emplacement that fires bolts of energy similar to lightning at targets, and is effective against light armored vehicles and infantry.

The Swarm: Teleports 5 buzzer swarms into an area.

Tiberium Vibration Scan: Can detect any tiberium and tiberium based units in a wide range (insert range here). Post jump can be changed to detect other specific materials, such as uranium.

Stasis Shield: Creates a completely impenetrable spherical shield approximately (insert size here). Unfortunately the units inside cannot fire or move while the shield is active.

Phase Field: Similar to the stasis field but doesn't work on structures, this field puts affected units temporarily out of sync with the physical world, rendering them invulnerable to most attacks but prevents them from returning fire. Unlike the stasis shield, units may still move while under the effects but are vulnerable to EMP strikes and being physically crushed.

Wormhole: Creates a time/space distortion that teleports units between two points. Caution is advised as the wormholes will transport hostile units as well as friendly ones.

Inchor Seed: Creates a small field of tiberium,

Infestation: Teleports a Tiberium hive onto a selected tiberium field, which generates damaging radiation that affects both friendly and hostile units. The structure itself is rather vulnerable and the field does not affect air units.

Overlord's Wrath: Calls a tiberium meteor down from orbit that will crash into the surface, devastating any structures or units in the area and creating a fresh tiberium field.

Shock Pods: Instantly teleports 3 veteran shock trooper squads

Temporal Wormhole: Creates a circular field of space/time that is significantly slower than the normal flow of time.

Scirin techology

Blink Packs: Short range teleport devices issued to Shocktroops

Advanced Articulators: increases scrin infantry speed drastically.

Forcefield Generators: Upgrades Planetary Assault Ships, Devastator Warships, and both variants of Tripods with regenerating plasma based shields that absorb incoming fire.

Attenuated Force fields: upgrades gunwalkers, shard walkers and seekers with a force field.

Plasma disk launchers: upgrades shock troops weapons to devastating multirole plasma weaponry

Shard launchers: upgrades seekers, plasma missile batteries and photon cannons to fire tiberium shards increasing their damage significantly. Ravagers and Shard Walkers upgrade to blue tiberium shards.

Traveler Engines: Increases the speed of air units by 30%
