Notes

Greetings jumper, have you ever wondered what it would feel like to be a god ?
to have such power at your fingertips and the reverence of countless people ?

Well, worry no more for you shall now receive the opportunity to join their rank, more specifically the ranks of the gods as they exist in Dungeons and Dragons as well as Pathfinder.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

Now take this + 1000 CP, you will stay by default in this multiverse for a 100 years.

Now choose your path :

Choose your age and gender freely. You can choose to be a Drop-in or have an appropriate history and memories to the kind of god(dess) you are

Free – Deity :

You jumper are now in possession of a spark of divine power and can now call yourself a deity. A deity is a creature of divine power whose domain lies in either the planes, the Astral Sea or Toril. They also possess a hierarchy that you now get to be a part of.

Divine ranking :

Not all gods are created equal and thus have a divine hierarchy according to both their power level and influence, here you can choose to pay upfront to choose your divine ranking though nothing keeps you from rising through the ranks during the jump or after through whatever method you possess or find.

+300CP (+400 CP if Vestige) Quasi-deity

Quasi-deities are the weakest types of deities who are closer to mortals with divine characteristics such as immortality.

You are unable to grant spells but if you pay an extra 50 cp you can grant spells to your clerics as a dragon ascendant could. A Vestige would pay 150 CP to remove the disadvantage of being unable to grant cleric spells.

Vestiges are gods considered dead to mortals but whom can still be contacted through the appropriate rituals though your influence would be very limited.

Your cult is closer to a mystery cult with a few dozen members than a proper cult.

+200 CP for Demigods/Exarchs and Titans

Demigods and Titans are the second weakest among the deities :

Demigods are the result of the union of a deity and a mortal. Exarchs are equivalent to demigods and are powerful divine champions of the gods.

Titans are the result of the union of two deities, willed into existence by a god or born from their spilled blood.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

Regardless of your choice, you are an ageless immortal and a true deity, are immune to mundane damage, polymorph against your will as well as magic damage from a non-epic source and can grant spells to your clerics.

Your worshippers number in the hundreds or thousands.

You receive four divine domains of your choice for free and three portfolios/ areas of concerns for free.

If you wish, you may gain an extra 50 cp and instead be an existence similar to a demonic harbinger, nascent demon lord... on the cusp of demigodhood though you would only gain two areas of concern instead of three.

Free Lesser deity :

Ranked higher than quasi-deities but still below the other gods are the lesser deities who generally have a number of faithful numbering in the thousands.

Your resistances are even higher than a quasi deity's, are as immortal as them, you can cast plane shift at-will as often as you want, are completely immune to any attempt to magically imprison or banish you and can choose to appear as whatever average specimen of a creature you wish. You are of course much more powerful than a quasi deity could hope to be.

Furthermore, in your divine realm(s)/territories you have claimed you become even stronger and capable of manipulating your realm as you wish.

You possess over a 100000 followers.

You gain 6 divine domains of your choice for free.

300 CP Intermediate deity :

Above lesser deities stand the intermediate deities with worshippers in the hundreds of thousands and thus capable of great influence on the world as well as in divine politics.

You gain even greater power than a lesser deity on top of the other abilities granted to lower ranked deities at an appropriate level for your station.

You receive 8 divine domains for free.

600 CP Greater deity :

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

Greater deities are the strongest and most influential gods barring overgods. They generally serve as heads of their own pantheons, possess millions of worshippers and command great respect among their divine peers.

However greater deities tend to be the least interested in their mortal worshippers and are focused on larger matters in the multiverse.

You receive a whopping 10 domains for free.

+Primordial :

The primordials also known as Dawn Titans are creatures of god-like power and manifest entropy whose domains are the Elemental Chaos and Abeir who made war with the gods at the Dawn of Creation.

They possess domains that are thus aligned with Nature, the Elements.... As opposed to the gods who possess dominion over more artificial domains such as civilization, the forge...

You can thus choose to join their number for free with your divine ranking providing your relative power level and influence.

On the other hand, you could choose to become a deity who originated as a primordial and sided with the gods like Ubtao did.

Post-jump, your deity form and primordial form become alt-forms

Location :

As a god you are able to choose where your primary seat of worship originates though whether or not it conflicts with another deity's seat of worship is left to your discretion. You will by default enter at the starting date of whichever edition you chose.

Roll a 1d10 or choose as you see fit :

1- Continent of Faerûn (Toril) –

The continent where most of the action happen in the world of Toril, you are free to choose where on that continent lies your center of worship.

2- Toril minus Faerûn -

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

While the biggest players gather on the continent Faerûn on Toril, there exist other continents like Maztica or Kara-Tur who while less well known are also home to cults of just as many deities as Faerûn.

3- Abeir (Primordial only) –

The world of Abeir is a mysterious world split between a Dragon empire and a Primordial Empire.

4- Underdark (Toril) –

Underneath the surface of Toril lies a gigantic cavern complex home to a huge variety of races such as the Drows, Dwarves, Aboleths, Beholders, Duerger, Illithids or Kuo-toa as well as various artifacts and ruins of great power and danger.

5- Oerth

The main planet of the Greyhawk setting, home to great wizards such as the Company of Eight as well as the lich Vecna.

It is also home to the famous temple of Elemental Evil.

6- Krynn-

The world of Krynn is the main setting of Dragonlance. It is home to 3 pantheons one good, one balanced and the last one evil each with their own followers.

7- Eberron

The world of Eberron is the main planet of the titular Eberron setting. The gods such as the Silver Flame play a major role in the lives of their worshippers.

8- Golarion

Also known as The Cage, the main planet of the Pathfinder setting that also happens to serve as the prison of Rovagug destroyer of Gods. Also home to the cults of various gods, empyreals and archfiends.

9- Darklands (Golarion)

Similarly to the Underdark of Toril lies a massive cavern complex underneath all the continents of Golarion home to dangerous cults of various archfiends as well as dread Rovagug's.

10- Space (Starfinder)

Advances in technology has allowed mortals to reach into space and invent interstellar travel. The faith of various gods still remains strong as ever even in the depths of space.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

Of Law and Chaos :

In the multiverse of D&D/Pathfinder cosmic wars are constantly waged between the forces of Law and Chaos, you may thus choose a side or remain Neutral.

Law :

You stand on the side of Law whether in the name of divine Laws for gods, mortals or ineffable cosmic concepts matters not.

Chaos :

You stand on the side of Chaos whether in the name of Freedom, Entropy or pure chaos matters not.

Neutral :

You stand neutral in the conflict of Law and Chaos.

Of Good, Evil and Neutral :

Outside the wars of Law and Chaos, the forces of Good and Evil battle constantly for the souls of mortals and the multiverse. As such you may side with Good, Evil or remain Neutral.

Good :

You stand on the side of empathy, compassion, altruism and mercy. You oppose mindless destruction, tyranny and various forms of oppression.

Evil :

You may be a dastardly villain or a greedy and ambitious overlord. Regardless, you won't let anyone stand between you and what you desire.

Neutral :

In this conflict, you stand as a watcher, a passerby or a fair judge unmoved by the stakes of the conflict.

General Perks : You receive 2 floating discounts per price tier.

Free - A spark of Divinity :

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

You are a god and so find your being changed. You are now made of pure divine energy which allows you to live indefinitely and become tangible or intangible at will. Your manifestation at its weakest is akin to a Greek demigod outrunning the wind, uprooting trees like blades of grass and tossing giant boulders. You no longer possess any biological needs such as eating, drinking, breathing though you may partake in it for pleasure, have limitless stamina and produce no waste. Faith sustains you, rising all your abilities and skills to ever greater heights. A lack of faith would see your faith gained strength diminish over the millenias to its weakest as described above.

Post-jump faith can be used as a substitute for all your biological needs and refill all your reservoirs of supernatural energies such as magic, psychic power, spiritual power etc... as well as your stamina.

Free- Beauty of A God :

Your classic beauty perk, you are beautiful, graceful, cute, handsome, sexy according to whatever beauty standard you may have to a divine degree regardless of whatever you are doing even covered in blood, dirt and grime.

You do not scar and always heal perfectly unless you don't want to and the scars you do choose to keep always complement your form in a way that pleases you.

Your hygiene, teeth, gums are always perfect unless you don't want them to be and you either smell neutral or emit a pleasant smell. This perk can also be used to wash blood, gore and grime off your body.

Furthermore, you can dial your appearance to your maximum beauty, down to an unremarkable level functioning as a stealth field as long as you don't draw attention to yourself or appear terrifying to onlookers.

Free - Divine mind :

As a god you obviously require the mind of one, as such you receive a perfect unlimited memory with perfect storage, indexation and an infinite multitasking ability. This allows you to keep track of all your followers simultaneously as well as your various plans across the planes. Your mind is similarly immune to corruption, harm and damage against your will and can handle any sort of knowledge and memetic hazards that would drive a mortal to madness.

Free – Divine senses :

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

Your senses are enhanced to a literally divine level allowing you to perceive light in all its wavelengths, magic, supernatural energies, souls, illusions, hear your name spoken across planes, see through walls and regardless of distance... Divine illusions may prove harder to notice unless you focus however.

Free – Divine protection :

It may sadden you to learn that some gods discriminate based on factors such as gender, appearance or race. So with this perk you and whoever you extend it to are protected from discrimination based on race,species,gender,sexual orientation etc.... so feel free to become a female archdevil in the Pathfinder Hell or join the Seldarine as a Drow deity. From now on, you shall only be judged based on your merits and personality.

Free/25CP- Class :

In the D&D/Pathfinder settings, characters including the avatars of gods have access to classes and now so do you.

In both your avatar and god forms, for free you gain access to the Cleric class at level 20 with the appropriate abilities and feats to signify your ability to channel your divinity.

For 25 CP, you may buy 10 levels either in the same class or in another class of your choosing be it a normal one,prestige,epic....

You may gain another class at level 20 for free if you have a domain to justify it such as a War domain for the Fighter class or a magic domain for the Wizard/Sorcerer/Archmage Class.

For another 25 CP, you may choose to add a specialization like a Kit without losing access to class features.

Free/25 CP- Race :

Gods are known to take forms that their mortal worshippers can relate to.

Choose a race from the D&D/Pathfinder setting and you gain access to it as an altform on top of your divine/primordial abilities with the appropriate abilities,resistances and vulnerabilities granted by that race.

For 25 CP each, you may add another race as an altform you can turn into.

Note that regardless of your choice your relative power level won't be affected so a goblin god will still be equivalent to a dragon god of similar divine ranking.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

Optionally, this can either represent the race you were prior to ascending and/or allow you to join a racial pantheon of your choosing possibly as a blood relative. Perhaps Annam All Father of the giants had a child he never knew about or Asgorath the primordial Dragon was split into three parts instead of two halves.

Note : you can also use this perk to become some kind of aberration god like the Great Old One Pantheon , the Outer Gods ,the Gods of the Far Realm etc ... still with power befitting your divine rank.

Free/25 CP Favored animal :

Many gods have animals that they can use to communicate with their worshippers whether to warn them of danger, show them the way forward or punish them for their transgressions.

Choose 3 animals perhaps with a specific color, you can transform into a giant version of them as an altform,disguise yourself as a mundane version of them indistinguishable barring divine senses and even then they would need to know you relative position to know to look for you, gain their abilities, control them to make them act according to your will, send messages through them, spy through their senses etc...

Your clerics are also capable of summoning them with a template appropriate to your nature such as fiendish, celestial, amphibian..

For an extra 50 CP, you can choose additional types of animals as your favored animals to gain the same benefits.

Free/50 CP Favored monster :

Some gods rather than use animals sent monsters instead. Rather than communicate they are often used as a means of direct aid to attack enemies or protect the faithful.

For free, choose 3 different D&D/Pathfinder monster such as yeth hounds, shadows or even shadow dragons. You can send such creatures down to the realm to act your will as you see fit with your clerics capable of calling upon them using spells.

For an extra 50 cp per additional monster, you can choose another type of monster to gain the same benefits.

Free/25 CP Favored plant :

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

Gods are capable of sending omens through the plant kingdom which could be easier for their faithful to get used to rather than their more monstrous servants.

Choose 3 different types of plant such as roses, oaks... you can send that plant to your faithful as an omen whether a mundane one or with strange characteristics such as dripping blood.

For an extra 25 CP each, you can add additional plants to your manifestations.

Free/25 CP Favored mineral :

Some gods can send their omens through minerals such as emeralds or silver. For example, finding a high quality emerald might be a sign of favor while a poor quality one could signify displeasure.

Choose 3 minerals, you can lead your faithful to it, send it as an omen, control its characteristics purity, quality ...

For an additional 25 CP a piece, you can add additional minerals to your manifestations.

Free/25 CP Favored color :

Gods have colors that they favor and that their clergy emulate.

Choose 3 colors, you can turn objects into those color to serve as a sign for your followers such as an escape route for a follower trying to escape their pursuers.

For 25 CP a piece, you can choose additional colors to add to your manifestations.

Free/25 CP Miscellaneous manifestation :

Gods have varied manifestations, some too varied to be properly classified.

Choose a manifestation that isn't covered by one of the previous perks such as impenetrable shadows, the sound of laughter coming out of nowhere or even outright possession. You can send this manifestation to your followers with particularly unique ones perhaps even improving the status of the receiver among your faithful.

For 25 CP each, you can add additional miscellaneous manifestations.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

Free/25 CP Title :

Gods are known to have grandiose titles such as Spider Queen, Dark Deity So now you get to join in on that.

For free, you gain three monikers titles that describe your nature and domains with the added benefit that your different titles may be assigned to different identities that can't be tied to you unless you want them to.

You can buy additional titles for 25 CP each.

Free/50 CP Favored weapon :

All gods are considered to have a favored weapon held particularly close to their faithful.

Choose a weapon type perhaps based on your own favorite weapon such as a sword or specific type of weapon like a curved dagger, unarmed or even natural weapons. You and your faithful find it easier to wield that weapon, master it, deal more damage than should be possible and have a much easier time learning and innovating martial arts and techniques using it than you would otherwise.

For an extra 50 CP each, you can gain these advantages for additional weapon types.

Free/50CP Symbol :

Gods and their faithful require symbols to adorn their shrines and places of worship.

Choose a symbol, your cult can use it to consecrate weapons and places in your name as well as boost the potency of rituals involving your domains.

Furthermore, you can spy on locations where your symbol is drawn and give your symbol specific effects such as driving people mad or calming them.

For 50 CP each, you can add additional symbols and effects to your repertoire.

Free/100 CP Alignment :

All sapient beings bar overgods possess an alignment along the lawful – chaotic and good-neutral-evil axis. You can freely choose what your alignment is and can hide it from all detection except divine ones. Furthermore, you will find that your faithful will slowly but surely change in alignment to be closer to yours if they aren't already of the same alignment as you.

For 100 CP, you are beyond alignment and thus can change what your alignment is at will at no risk to your mind/spirit, are immune to effects that would change your alignment if you don't want them to and all methods of detecting alignment including divine ones will show the result that you want it to show.

Free/100 Cp- Divine domain :

As a god, you have to be the god of something as such you will receive a number of domains according to your divine rank though you can receive more by paying a 100 CP per extra domain. A divine domain allows you to create, manipulate and destroy expressions of your domain as well as embodying your domain. Furthermore, all your efforts, magics, abilities, skills, powers, perks etc... relating to your domains are magnified and become much easier to master, innovate and use. You can always sense events relating to your domains regardless of what planes it happens on. These senses even extend far into the past allowing you to investigate events centuries or perhaps even millenias after they happened. You draw strength from phenomena related to your domains such as War if you are a War god, acts of thievery if you are a god of Thieves etc...

If you also bought the Race perk above, you gain the related domain at a discount so if you bought, for example the Lizardfolk race you can buy the Scalykind domain at a 50 CP discount.

Free/50 CP- Divine portfolio :

Gods may have hold the same domains but what they differ in is their portfolio.

A portfolio is the specific expression/area of interest of the domain that the deity controls and can also be an ethnicity or geographical region that they hold dominion over :

For example Ubtao holds the domain of Scalykind with the portfolio of Dinosaurs while Semuany also holds the domain of Scalykind with the portfolio of Lizardfolks.

You gain as many portfolios as you have domains and can buy more portfolios at 50 CP each.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

50 CP- Proxy (requires at least Demigod status) :

Sometimes gods need to leave their realm either on urgent business or simply to wander the planes. As leaving their realm unattended would leave it open to attack, they gift a portion of their power to a favored servitor to empower them and rule in their name during said god's absence.

You become capable of sharing your divine power with your servitors raising even the weakest of them to the status of demigods at the very least. Normally this would drastically weaken you but since you are paying CP for it, you won't be weakened and can take the invested power back with but a thought if your proxy proves unworthy of their position.

100 CP the Mortal and Divine perspective :

It is known that power can get to the head of many so with this perk you are assured that no amount of power will change you nor will anything be capable of manipulating/corrupting your body, mind and soul unless you allow it.

Furthermore, you will always be able to relate to mortals if you want to and plan according to both a mortal and divine perspective.

Free/ 100 CP Acts of faith :

What counts as an act of worship to you ? is it simply prayer, animal sacrifice, blood sacrifice, human sacrifice, donations to your cult or dropping tribute in territories you hold dominion over such as the sea if you have the sea domain ?

Regardless you receive 3 methods through which your faithful may channel their faith to you.

You may 3 additional methods for 100 CP, this can be bought multiple times.

100 CP- Avatar Creation :

Gods can't afford to deal with matters regarding the prime material plane personally but can send an avatar in their stead.

You can now create mortal avatars in your image with whatever altform you have access to. They possess any class you have bought.

You can have more than one avatar at a time and can grant them different forms and abilities depending on their role such as a battle avatar like Bhaal's or one with silver tongued diplomat.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

These avatars can either be empty husks that you can control at will, sapient beings in their own right or unaware of your relationship as their creator.

Regardless they shall remain forever loyal to you and your cause.

Free/100 CP Aspect :

Gods are known to take aliases or separate aspects of themselves to gather more worshippers for themselves or to infiltrate pantheons.

For free, you gain three aliases/aspects that you can send into other realms, can be autonomous or always under your control.

They tend to have similar domains to your own but in lesser numbers to reflect their weaker power in comparison to yours.

Furthermore, if you usurp the domains and portfolio of another god you may choose to use their identity as an aspect much like Shar did to the god Ibrandul.

Regardless, all worship directed at your aspects go to you and they are guaranteed to remain loyal to you as they are extensions of yourself.

100 CP- Divine magic :

You were already capable of granting magic to your clerics but what if there was more to it ? For each domain that you possess you shall gain powerful divine magic based on it (a domain of storm gives divine storm magic, a domain of ice divine ice magic etc) that you can through training and research create new spells, improve them and teach it to your followers.

Furthermore, you can teach your followers rituals based on your domains that although taking more time to cast than spells are much more powerful than them and become exponentially so the more faithful are involved in the ritual.

200 CP- Fanatical followers :

How do the evil gods who harshly punish failure and oppress their followers still manage to have thriving cults ?

Perhaps they have this perk which makes your followers unfaillingly loyal to your cause unto death. Please be worthy of their faith in you.

200 CP- Divine Truth :

What kind of god is limited by the barrier of language none i dare say.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

You gain the ability to speak, read and write in any language that exists within a setting which updates accordingly in future jumps.

Furthermore, gods who spread knowledge need to be believed in the first place as such when you speak the truth everyone who hear it will know it is the truth.

200 CP- Divine Lover :

Passionate trysts among the gods aren't unknown but tend to spiral into tragedy more often than not but not with this perk.

Aside from divine skills in all matters of romance and sealing the deal so to speak, you and your lovers shall always remain as faithful as you are to each other forming a vast web of relationships all the more robust for it, with the love that you share never weakening and only growing with time thus making your bonds all the stronger.

200 CP- Divine progeny :

Children between mortals and gods tend to be quasi-deities but not in your case where even the weakest mortal stock will yield demigods paragons of their species who will be loyal to you as their parent. Please treat them well.

200 CP- Divine Laws :

As a god you are capable of making decrees that will be obeyed by your faithful as well as knowledge of rules to set up to guide your cult as you deem fit.

200 CP- Divine Power Protection :

If there is anything to be learned about divinity in the Forgotten realms it's that divine power is oddly fluid and that gods may easily be cast down by their more powerful peers. However with this perk, you are protected from such things.

From now on, none of your items,powers,magics,divine domains,portfolios etc.... as well as your divinity may be turned against you,stolen,weakened,removed,erased etc... in any way unless you allow it. Furthermore, no attempt at binding you will succeed unless you allow it nor can you be cast down into avatar form even by an angry overgod.

200 CP : Artifact Creation :

Many gods are known to gift their favored mortals with powerful artifacts that they obviously have a hand in making, perhaps you can join on that.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

You can now craft artifacts of divine potency that can only be wielded by people you approve of. They can imbued with magical abilities that are all the stronger and easier to make the closer they are to your domains.

200 CP : Divine Boon :

Gods are capable of granting advantages to mortals beyond the magic provided to the clerics. These boons are varied such as immunity to a certain type of damage like fire or poison, luck in their domains such as trade or even invulnerability to mundane weapons and now you too can grant such boons to your faithful.

200 CP : Divine Harmony :

The Naga goddess Shekinester having swallowed her fellow naga god Ssharstrune expelled his remains for fear of being corrupted by his domains. This is something that you no longer have to fear as from now on your domains , portfolios , magics, abilities, equipments etc anything that would be considered yours can no longer harm and/or corrupt you against your will.

400 CP- Martial Deity :

Most gods are no strangers to warfare but some of them are distinguished by their strength and martial skill. You stand among their number.

First, you possess peerless mastery of both armed and unarmed combat with the physical abilities to match whether melee or ranged weapons or magic/psionics applied to warfare you stand among the best of the divine such that you could feasibly fight off or even defeat dozens of yours peers in your divine rank. This mastery also extends to the fields of war tactics, strategy and logistics with the charisma to lead your fellow deities to war.

Second, you know how to use your domains, magic,powers, skills, environment etc... everything at your disposal to fight and cause harm, perhaps your healing causes bones to heal improperly or your faerie fire suddenly burns with the intensity of an actual fire.

Third, your attacks can break through invincibility and immunities in order to bring death to the deathless. Anything that you kill shall stay dead regardless of whatever cloning, avatar, immortality or self-reviving tricks they may possess.

Finally, as long as no opponent among a group can defeat you, you will be capable of defeating them regardless of how many opponents are gathered.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

This updates every jump making you a fighter and military leader of similar level for the setting but never making you weaker.

400 CP Miracle of Divinity :

Using faith or whatever divine energy you have, you can accomplish feats that mortals can scarcely conceive of. These miracles however take a proportional cost in energy the larger the intended effect is intended to be though it would barely take a thought to achieve effects that are related to your domains/portfolios.

400 CP Divine curse :

Gods aren't only capable of miracles but also of dire curses if their ire is roused.

You can mark offenders with a mark that will be plain to see by your faithful and cause them to deal increased damage to the offenders as well as curse offenders with curses relating to the domain ranging from minor inconveniences all the way to lethal misfortune (for an animal domain think of animals dislike the accursed individual for minor all the way to marked for death with stealth failing against monsters with the beast subtype that constantly hound them).

400 CP - Eternal :

You are no longer reliant on faith to power your abilities but can still benefit from it. Any growth in power, skill etc... whether through faith or some other means become permanent, your skills and abilities never grow rusty nor do you become weaker if you are lacking faith. All your divine, faith etc... based abilities can now be linked to grow with your other attributes such as magic, psionics, soul, mind and body.

Furthermore, you become extremely resilient to all forms of harm and even if you were to fall your faithful, your followers and companions would find you extremely receptive to all manners of resurrection rituals that both you and them know. This resurrection can however only be done once per jump/ century whichever comes first.

400 CP- Creator God :

Gods are well known as the origins of many species of creatures across the planes. You can create lifeforms from nothing, convert a creature into another type of creature and in general transform and enhance life as you see fit though you can't create/enhance something beyond your own power with this perk alone.

Your children, creations and creatures augmented and/or created are fiat backed to be loyal to you.

600 CP Paragon :

Even among the gods, you stand as a paragon of their kind. Everything about you from your strength to your magic, intelligence and the strength and versatility of your domains are enhanced beyond what should be possible for someone of your divine rank.

All your perks, powers, abilities from this document or others are boosted twice over in both power and versatility their drawbacks are lessened and removed overtime and there is no longer any limit to your growth. You are capable of growing and expanding upon everything about you from mind, body,soul , magic, perks,divinity etc... without end.

This also removes diminishing returns allowing you to always grow stronger without requiring more experience to level up as you grow stronger and/or more skilled.

This additionally means that your domains,abilities ,magics etc.. ; have more weight behind them which allows them to pierce through immunities against all logics thus allowing you to burn a fire elemental, make a construct bleed.

Post-jump this extends to all your altforms.

This perk is a Capstone booster

600 CP Divine Ascension :

Among the most coveted secrets of the multiverse are the secrets of ascension to godhood. This divine lore is now yours.

You know all the rituals that can ascend a mortal to godhood as well as various rituals to steal and add the domains and portfolios of rival deities to your own or that of others up to forcing them to live as mortals. These rituals can be done with brute force but are much easier to use when the recipient consents.

Post-jump, this lore updates with whatever equivalent to godhood exists in the setting. Perhaps instead of magic, it's a psychic ascension as a sentient meme or uploading your mind into an AI regardless the rituals shall always grant cosmic power and influence.

Capstone Boosted- The Akashic scholar

You are now the single wisest and most knowledgeable being in the setting. You know rituals to do pretty much anything you could wish for given time and resources, they might even allow you to one day create your own multiverse.

Furthermore, you gain a omniscience in the form of the Akashic library a mental plane you can access at will that contains all thoughts, feelings and information past, present and future as well as that of parallel multiverses. All you have to do is think about a piece of information you wish to know and you will receive your answer.

This lore as well as the library updates for each setting you go to.

You gain access to the divine domains of Knowledge, Fate, Magic and Spells for free.

600 CP Ancient power :

The most ancient gods tend to be the wisest and strongest among them due to their seniority so why not become one of them.

Your knowledge and wisdom are such that you are considered among the wisest and most knowledgeable beings of the setting and will continue to be so in future worlds. Your mind contains knowledge forgotten by all but the most erudite and ancient beings with more than a few forbidden and dangerous secrets that are known only to yourself.

This also provides a significant boost in the potency of your progeny such that the child of two lesser deities including you would result in a lesser deity instead of a demigod.

Furthermore, you find that time does nothing to dull your skills and powers and instead simply refine them endlessly so that the you of tomorrow is always superior to the you of yesterday.

Finally, in future jumps you can choose to be among the oldest of your kind with all the respect and reverence such a position deserves.

Capstone Boosted – Primogenitor

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

You are now the oldest specimen of your kind with the knowledge, power and skill to fight and win against the most dangerous opponents of the Dawn War. This status and memories carry over to whatever species you become in the future and you still grow stronger and more skilled as time passes.

This massively boosts the effects of the previous perks.

Optionally, using this perk you could declare yourself the patron god and progenitor of an entire mortal race such as elves, dragons, humans....

You gain access to the domains of Knowledge, Magic, Fertility and Creation for Free.

All the following perks may be shared on an temporarily or permanently on an individual basis with your faithful

Law perks :

100 CP- Scion of laws

You have a divine family of your own including siblings if you so wish though you are the leader regardless. Your children even if of Evil alignment are guaranteed to never plot against you and always strive to act in a way that you approve of.

200 CP- Divine Proxy

Sometimes gods have to leave their realm either because of urgent business such as a war or simply to explore the planes. Simply leaving their realm unattended would leave it vulnerable to attacks from their enemies which is why they leave proxies to rule in their stead.

This individual whose appearance and personality are of your own design is your proxy. They are at least of demigod rank scaling to be always at least half as strong as you are, extremely skilled and efficient as a ruler and/or lawmaker and can serve as a skilled warrior and general to defend your realms. They are loyal to you and can be safely entrusted with your realms while you venture the planes.

You can buy additional proxies at a discount.

200 CP- Herald of Jumper

Aside from their animal and monstrous servants, gods are capable of sending Heralds for meetings and edicts that aren't important enough for them to send an avatar personally.

Your Herald with an appearance and personality of your own design is of at least Demigod scaling to be at least half as strong as you are. They are a skilled diplomat, warrior and general capable of leading your armies.

You can buy additional Heralds at a discount.

300 CP- Divine Beast

Some gods are known to ride on top or otherwise possess powerful divine animal companions and now so do you.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

This divine Beast of your own design is always close to your own power level as you are, loyal to you and more than willing to let you ride into whatever battlefield you wish.

You can also send them down to the realms to prepare your arrivals or destroy people and/or locations that have offended you.

You can buy additional Divine Beasts at a discount.

600 CP- Apocalyptic entity

Throughout the multiverse there exist many beings that are more than a match for the gods some that are said to have posed a threat to the entirety of the multiverse itself. And now in a strange turn of events you have befriended one of them.

This individual with a personality and appearance of your own design most likely has a couple or more prophecies detailing how they will end up destroying all of Creation. They however seem pretty content with hanging out with you as a friend or perhaps something more if you allow it. They are guaranteed to always remain among the very strongest beings in any jump you go to and never grow weaker.

You may buy additional Apocalyptic entities at a discount.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

Drawbacks :

OCP- Edition

A toggle that allows you to go to any edition of D&D, Pathfinder or setting like Dragonlance or Critical role...

OCP- Cosmology Of The Realms

In the Forgotten Realms, three cosmologies regarding the structure of the planes are prevalent, these being the Great Axis Cosmology, the Great Tree Cosmology and The Great Wheel Cosmology.

Meanwhile, in the second edition of Pathfinder the Elemental Planes of Wood and Metal were discovered.

With this toggle you can choose what cosmology you would like to use for the jump either a canon one or something of your design.

OCP- Different starting date

By default you would be starting at the date that marks the beginning of whatever edition you choose.

With this toggle you may instead choose to drop at whatever point in the past or future you may want.

Be cautious however as much information regarding the distant past is fragmented and the dangers of those times are varied and unknown.

+100 CP- Back to the past

For + 100 CP, you may start a century into the past of the edition and gain an extra + 100 CP for each extra century up to the beginnings of the D&D/Pathfinder multiverse.

+100CP – Longer stay

By default, you would be staying in this setting for a century but perhaps you would prefer to stay longer.

For an extra 100 CP, you may stay a century longer past the date you would have to make your choice, you gain an extra 100 CP for each century you add up to the end of this iteration of the Multiverse.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

+200 CP Exile (requires to be part of a Pantheon)

Well jumper, it seems that you have become pariah. Either for crimes you have committed or as a scapegoat you have been exiled from whatever pantheon you start in. The people from your race actively shun you and your old pantheon keep you at arm's length. The only saving grace is that your followers are still faithful to you though they may be persecuted if they show their faith openly or are discovered to follow your religion.

+200 CP Hard to find followers

It may be because of bad rumors following you, the kind of creature you are, the nature of your rites and/or your domains.

Regardless, you Jumper seem to have trouble attracting followers with only the vilest, most depraved and generally mad willing to follow one such as you.

+300 CP or +600CP Item Lockout/Power Lockout

It seems that when arriving in this setting you have lost access to your items or perks/powers from outside this document but fear not you will regain them at the end of your stay here.

For + 300 CP it's either your items or powers/perks from outside this document you cannot access ; For +600 CP it's both.

+300 CP No meta knowledge

You may not realize but much of the information within the various books of Pathfinder and D&D is either known only to the most erudite of scholars and beings or simply unknown to all but a handful of beings.

So for +300 CP, you lose access to information that would be deemed secret within the setting that you would have gotten prior to entering the setting.

+400CP Corrupted by your domains

It is a fact that gods and their domains are linked but what if they were to subsume you ?

For the duration of your stay here, you will have trouble acting in ways that go against your domains so a god of Chaos would have trouble being lawful, a god of Lies would almost never tell the Truth etc....

It is possible to go against them but it will take a lot of willpower.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

+400 CP Divine passion

Gods are generally seen by most mortals as aloof and wise entities but some among their numbers act as nothing more than brutes or even like animals.

This makes you much more impulsive, stubborn and generally slow witted than you would normally be. Be careful not to let others take advantage of you.

+600 CP Rise of the Elder Evils

In the multiverse, there exist beings of godlike powers that are enemies of the gods and their followers.

These entities are known as Elder Evils and tend to either be sealed or wandering throughout the multiverse, they are capable of bringing ruin to entire worlds.

Until now that is.

During your stay, you are guaranteed that one Elder Evil either a canon one or one of your own design will start stirring and risk awakening.

Worse than that, for some reason their followers and signs will seem to make a priority of targeting your followers though thankfully they can still be beaten back.

You can take this drawback multiple times to add one Elder Evil each time you take it.

+800 CP The Dawn War Redux

You live in interesting times Jumper. The primordials that were thought to have been defeated during the Dawn War have resurfaced and are ready to start another war with the gods, it will be a long and bloody affair that could bring ruin to countless worlds in the Prime Material Plane.

If you are a Primordial or at least on their side it will instead be vengeful resurrected gods who are restarting the War and trying to coerce their brethren to follow them.

If your stay happens during the Dawn War then it will instead be an extra group of primordials or gods joining the War depending on which side you are on.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

+1000CP Apocalypse now

It has happened, the Elder Evils are awakening, the Great Old Ones are rising from their prison to reclaim the world they once, the primordials are ready to bring the multiverse back to the primordial chaos while Tharizdun/Rovagug shatter their prisons ready to bring an end to the Multiverse.

I hope you are ready for an Apocalypse of cosmic proportion Jumper.

Hopefully you can still make it out alive.

Finally, you may companion any of the primordials that fought during the primordial war you want so as to not leave your comrades in arms behind as well as their realms and followers.

If you choose neither side and somehow win the entire conflict for yourself, you can claim both rewards.

War of Law and Chaos :

The conflict between Law and Chaos has raged since the very beginnings of the multiverse with its current incarnation as the Blood War simply being its latest form. Its original incarnation as the Dawn War came as a result of the Queen of Chaos waging war upon the rest of the multiverse but what if things went differently.

If you choose to help the side of Chaos, you will receive the perk Lord of Chaos that boosts tremendously all your abilities,powers,magics,domains,portfolios etc relating to Chaos and Entropy as well as granting you those domains for free. Needless to say you also possess tremendous influence over all creatures of Chaos,Entropy and Evil.

D&D/Pathfinder Gods jumpchain

the obyrith managed to cross from their dying multiverse to the current one, corrupt Tharizdun a god merely by holding it and create the entire Abyss by being planted in the Elemental Chaos where it continues digging to this day adding new Layers to the plane.

Also included are the secrets that the obyriths used to create the various tanari demon breeds that inhabit the Abyss to the present days.

If you choose to fight for yourself, you receive both rewards.

Among the conflicts that have shaped the D&D/Pathfinder cosmos almost none have had higher stakes than the battle against Tharizdun and Rovagug respectively perhaps you wish to take part in that conflict ?

However, in your way stands Rovagug/Tharizdun a god of such apocalyptic power that all gods regardless of alignment and/or past feuds put aside their differences to imprison him.

Such was their power that many long forgotten deities died facing him and if left unchecked could have spelled doom for the entire multiverse.

Notes :

Yes, your various planes, realms etc can serve as afterlives to both your faithful and souls of the alignment you wish, with the petitioners either appearing as they did in life or becoming a native entity of the plane at your discretion.

Yes, the various scenarios allowing you to take the planes do allow you to take whatever named entity within the realm as companion/follower for free.

Domains have synergy with certain perks such as a beauty domain with Divine beauty, a life domain with Creator god ...

Divine rank doesn't determine the outcome of fights as the defeat of the lesser drow deity of thievery Vhaeraun at the hands of the demigod of battle prowess Selvetarm shows. Combat skills matter more than ranks.

Gods aren't omnipotent, they are simply supremely powerful and skilled in matters relating to their domains and portfolios.

Perks are written assuming the power level/divine rank of an intermediate deity with them being appropriately weaker or stronger if you are of lower rank /power or higher rank/power respectively.

All the various books/records are constantly updating so that they remain the most complete, accurate and truthful repository of informations relating to their areas of knowledge.

For the Shards/Seeds capstone items, there are potentially infinite uses for them as long as it relates in some way to the forces they represent.

To have written this somewhere, the capstone perks paragons and embodiment of each alignment perk tree grant you great influence over the very fabric and laws of planes that share your alignment so a paragon and embodiment chaos could manipulate Limbo and the Maelstrom to their leisure etc...

This obviously updates to gaining control of similar realms in future jumps up to creating them if they don't exist.

Difference between the knowledge of Ancient Power and Divine Ascension :

The knowledge of Ancient Power is more along the lines of Historical knowledge as you have been a witness of those events yourself.

Meanwhile divine ascension is a more general though no less potent multidisciplinary knowledge though focused on divinity.
