

CREED THE TRILOGY

Jump made by olympaforged (u/olympiforged) and assisted by A.I.

Legacy doesn't come with instructions. In a world where names carry weight like gloves, the fight is never just in the ring.

Years after the fall of Apollo Creed, his illegitimate son—Adonis Johnson Creed—rises from obscurity to challenge both his father's shadow and the world of boxing itself. Trained by Rocky Balboa, the former heavyweight champion of the world, Adonis proves he's more than a name, forging his path through punishing fights, personal loss, and public scrutiny.

From his early rise and brutal bouts with elite fighters like "Pretty" Ricky Conlan, to reclaiming his identity in the spotlight, Adonis becomes a symbol of both legacy and self-made greatness. But glory comes at a cost.

In time, ghosts from the past return—most notably Viktor Drago, son of the man who killed Apollo in the ring. Their clash is more than a match; it's history rewritten through blood and will. Adonis survives the war, but the world keeps turning.

Years later, an old friend and former champion, Damian Anderson, resurfaces with a grudge forged in prison time and a stolen dream. Their final confrontation becomes a reckoning—for both their shared past and the future of the sport.

Three films. Three arcs. One unifying truth:
You don't just fight for titles. You fight for who you are.

Now it's your turn to step into the ring. Will you carry a legacy, forge your own, or destroy everything in your path?

The bell's about to ring.
What are you fighting for?

You will start one month before the events of the first movie and spend the next ten years in this world, good luck. Gain +1000 CP

ORIGINS AND AGE

What will be your path in this world? Whatever you pick is up to you but no matter what you age is locked to the minimum of 25 years old. Your gender is up to you but this jump revolves around boxing so if you choose to be female then there is a scenario for you.

Dark Horse

You weren't handed anything. No big name. No rich camp. No legacy worth selling tickets for. Just grit, talent, and a chip on your shoulder big enough to train with. You've been fighting in the shadows—jailhouse gyms, underground circuits, broken-down rings—waiting for your shot.

Now the lights are on you. And the world's about to learn what happens when a hungry fighter stops waiting and starts taking. You didn't come to be famous. You came to win.

Veteran

You've been around. You've seen the bright lights and the back alleys, the fame and the falls. You've tasted victory—and maybe swallowed blood when the crowd stopped chanting your name. Age, wear, the grind—it's all real now. But so is your hunger.

You're not done. Not yet. Because every round you're still breathing, you've got something to say—and your fists are fluent. This isn't a comeback. It's a reminder.

Trainer

You don't throw punches anymore—you shape people who do. You've stood in the corners of champions, seen the rise and fall of giants, and learned what breaks a fighter before the world ever sees it happen. You see the long game. The blood behind the glory. The cost of greatness.

Whether you're building a legend or keeping one from falling apart, your job isn't just to teach. It's to believe—even when they don't. The fighter may walk into the ring alone. But they never get there without you.

Legacy

You carry a name that echoes in arenas, a history carved into highlight reels and Hall of Fame plaques. You were born with gloves in your blood—but respect isn't inherited. Every win is scrutinized, every loss magnified, every move compared to someone long gone.

You can run from it. You can chase it. But eventually, you'll have to decide: Are you honoring your name... Or escaping it?

PERKS

Boxing is more than just throwing punches; it encompasses discipline, instinct, the ability to handle pressure, and a strong sense of self. The advantages listed below represent the characteristics that define a fighter. Some are innate talents, while others are developed through years of dedication, perseverance, and hard work and taking them gives you and EDGE. General perks offer universal skills and toughness and you get 400 CP to spend Strictly in this section.

GENERAL PERKS

Fighting Through It [100 CP]

Fast recovery and constant readiness define you. Injuries mend swiftly, muscle soreness dissipates rapidly, and your physique remains in prime condition effortlessly. Whether enduring blows in the boxing ring or navigating life's challenges, you rebound with enhanced resilience—allowing you to compete longer, push harder, and experience less recovery time.

Fight IQ [100 CP]

You read fighters like open books. Their tells, their rhythm, the way they shift their weight—it's all data, and you know how to use it. Your tactical awareness improves with every round, giving you an edge even against stronger or faster opponents.

Eyes Don't Lie [100 CP]

You've learned to see beyond the bravado. You can read people's emotional state in their eyes, their posture, even their silence. You're not a therapist, but you know when someone's scared, angry, lying—or just about to snap. Useful both in the ring and outside it.

Bite Down [100 CP]

Unyielding. You possess the remarkable ability to withstand pain, pressure, and heartbreak, maintaining your composure and forward momentum. While not invulnerable, your capacity to endure adversity without losing your stride is unparalleled.

Mic Game [200 CP]

Effective fight promotion hinges on generating hype, a skill you clearly possess. Your ability to captivate audiences through your persona, be it reserved or flamboyant, translates directly into increased fan support and larger fight attendance. This mastery of public relations gives you a significant advantage in the fight business.

Perfect Form [200 CP]

Your technique displays exceptional sharpness. Each strike connects with purpose, your defense is well-maintained, and your movement exhibits a natural flow. You are not simply fighting; you are executing at a high level. Whether in the boxing ring or any close-range confrontation, your efficiency and accuracy provide a distinct advantage against less refined adversaries.

No Easy Rounds [200 CP]

Every training moment yields significant progress. Your workouts are intensely effective, and sparring sessions provide realistic combat preparation, ensuring no effort is wasted. You experience rapid improvement with each repetition and acquire new skills more quickly than your peers.

Keep Your Corner Close [200 CP]

Your unwavering loyalty inspires deep trust in those around you, making you someone others will fiercely defend. Allies are exceptionally devoted, relationships are profoundly strong, and you motivate people to persevere beyond their own perceived limits.

Mirror Work [400 CP]

Having done the internal work, you possess self-awareness of your flaws, patterns, and history, enabling you to remain calm in crises and sharp under pressure. Fear, insecurity, and anger no longer control you but instead serve as fuel, never dictating your actions.

Last Round Killer [400 CP]

Legends are forged in the crucible of pressure. It's in the final rounds – physically, mentally, and emotionally – where your true brilliance ignites, defying the expectation of breaking. You don't merely endure; you flourish under duress. Comebacks, decisive moments, and final surges are your proving grounds, where you not only make history but make it seem effortless.

Every Fight Is Personal [400 CP]

Every battle, obstacle, and face-off carries weight. You don't just act; you connect with personal meaning and feeling, channeling it into powerful displays without distraction. In those silent moments when your gloves meet the mat, the intensity is palpable—for you and everyone watching.

Comeback King [400 CP]

Regardless of whether you face defeat in competition, a decline in public standing, or a personal disappointment, your recovery is swift—encompassing physical, mental, and social restoration. Each obstacle serves as motivation, and every comeback enhances your capabilities. The world learns to acknowledge your resilience.

Born For This [600 CP]

You belong here. Your instincts, timing, and resilience show you were made for this. You are far superior, learning and rising ten times faster, hitting harder than anyone else. Pressure fuels you, and a single look can change the fight. This is a capstone booster, greatly enhancing 600 CP origin perks.

DARK HORSE PERKS

100 CP perk free for origin, the rest is 50% off.

Chipped Shoulders [100 CP]

You internalize every slight, rejection, and obstacle. This accumulated resentment isn't a burden; it's a source of power. The experience of being underestimated becomes your protection. Your punches land with greater force when driven by the need to prove your worth. The skepticism of others only intensifies your concentration. Your peak performance emerges when faced with widespread doubt.

Out the Mud [200 CP]

Having learned to fight outside the confines of clean gyms and sponsorships, you developed a raw, rule-bending style where survival depended on ruthlessness. Your fighting is unconventional and unpredictable; you seamlessly switch stances, exploit weaknesses, disrupt rhythm, and are equally formidable within and beyond the ring. This dangerous, unorthodox approach allows you to snatch victory from seemingly impossible situations.

Iron Mindset [400 CP]

Having endured isolation, you've cultivated exceptional mental discipline. Unburdened by distractions, you approach training with unwavering focus, maximizing your efforts and shattering limitations. This intense concentration allows you to enter a state of unwavering determination, impervious to doubt and fear. Whether in the ring or navigating life's challenges, you possess the ability to fully immerse yourself in the task at hand and persevere through rigorous effort.

Hunger Like No One Else [600 CP]

This world has cost you dearly – years, respect, time, and chances. Your fight isn't just for a win; it's a battle to reclaim everything you've been denied. In those crucial moments, your willpower transcends talent, training, and fear. When others falter, you ascend. You're not asking; you're seizing what's yours.

Ruthless Redemption

Your burdens—anger, pain, and need—transform into a formidable strength, becoming a weapon against your adversaries. They sense this pressure, an unnerving presence that precedes any physical blow. Your unwavering resilience shatters their resolve, and in moments when they anticipate your collapse, you unearth deeper reserves of power. You don't simply engage in combat; you dominate.

VETERAN PERKS

100 CP perk free for origin, the rest is 50% off.

Been Here [100 CP]

Having faced the challenges, you remain unfazed by intense pressure. You maintain composure amidst chaos, never letting emotions dictate your actions. Your ability to stay calm in critical moments is unwavering. You approach fights with intelligence over brute force, consistently anticipating your less experienced adversaries.

Hard Rounds, Hard Lessons [200 CP]

Years of hard-fought battles in the ring and grueling training in unforgiving gyms have been your teacher. This demanding path has forged in you a swift recovery from inactivity, a seamless ability to adjust tactics mid-fight, and a profound, innate understanding of rhythm, distance, and spatial awareness. Your style may lack unnecessary embellishment, but every action you take carries significant weight.

Fighter's Reputation [400 CP]

Your reputation carries weight. Entering any arena – a gym, a press conference, or the ring – your presence is felt. Your established legacy grants a mental advantage even before a blow lands. Whether met with fear or a desire for victory, opponents acknowledge and respect the journey you've undertaken, and this recognition inherently alters their approach.

Too Tough to Fade [600 CP]

Though time has taken its toll on your physical form, your spirit remains indomitable. You possess an exceptional resilience to pain, surpassing the limits of most fighters. In moments of adversity, your instincts take over effortlessly. Your battles are not solely for victory; they are a testament to your enduring capabilities. When the decisive moment arrives, you will unequivocally reaffirm your identity to the world.

Still Standing

You don't simply survive; you endure like a storm. Your mere presence demoralizes younger, supposedly ready fighters. Against younger, faster, or more hyped opponents, your timing, grit, and pain threshold intensify. While others weaken in later rounds, you become their unforeseen nightmare.

TRAINER PERKS

100 CP perk free for origin, the rest is 50% off.

Eye for Potential [100 CP]

A natural eye for a fighter is unmistakable – be it their posture, spirit, or punches. You develop a keen sense for recognizing potential and knowing how to cultivate it, even in those who are unaware of their own capabilities.

Built Not Bought [200 CP]

You have a remarkable ability to transform inexperienced individuals into formidable fighters. Your training methods, encompassing technique, conditioning, discipline, and mental fortitude, consistently yield rapid and lasting results. Regardless of the specific training element – pad work, running, or rehabilitation – your system's effectiveness stems directly from your personal dedication and expertise.

Corner of Steel [400 CP]

In the heat of battle, your voice becomes a beacon for your fighter. It cuts through the chaos, allowing them to hear your instructions with crystal clarity. You possess the power to break through their fear, adjust their rhythm, and deliver strategic advice that strikes with impact. Your presence extends beyond the ring, bolstering their morale, sharpening their focus, and enhancing their clarity during crucial moments.

Legacy Maker [600 CP]

A trainer does more than instruct; they forge legends. Taking someone under your wing means pushing them beyond their perceived limitations in mind, spirit, and body. You navigate their defeats, hone their skills, and transform potential into championship material. Your impact resonates in every fighter you shape.

Every Fighter Leaves Changed

Your guidance has a transformative effect. The fighters you train undergo a significant evolution, their fighting style mirroring your own mindset, experience, and passion. Even those who are initially flawed or resistant can be molded and improved under your tutelage. Your impact extends beyond mere fight preparation; you reshape the trajectory of their lives through dedicated training.

LEGACY PERKS

100 CP perk free for origin, the rest is 50% off.

The Name Rings Out [100 CP]

Your family name carries weight, preceding you in the boxing world. This instant recognition brings both opportunity and scrutiny. Every step, from your debut onward, is under the public eye. This inherited visibility can become a powerful advantage in your career.

Blood in the Gloves [200 CP]

You possess extraordinary athletic potential with an innate understanding of movement and spatial relationships. You acquire and refine skills effortlessly, showing a natural aptitude for physical disciplines. External pressures do not hinder your concentration and mental fortitude. Your inherent inner power, a result of your distinguished lineage, is the foundation for future achievements.

Shadowboxing the Past [400 CP]

Throughout your life, you've been burdened by the weight of expectations, doubt, and constant comparisons. Now, you've transformed that burden into fuel. When faced with reminders of your parent's legacy, your past defeats, or your family history, you don't give in; you become more focused. Emotional pressure sharpens your resolve, and you fight with greater intensity when the struggle is personal.

My Name, My Fight [600 CP]

No longer in anyone's shadow, you've forged your own path as a true fighter. This perk embodies your distinct identity. When your heritage faces scrutiny, when your reputation is at stake, your abilities surge to new heights. You embrace your inheritance—the expectations, the advantages, the hardships—and make it unequivocally your own. In the ring, you represent authentic achievement, not just reflected fame.

Written in Your Own Hand

You represent a pivotal moment in a family's history. You don't simply live up to the established reputation—you reshape it entirely. Your successes alter public perception and motivate others with a celebrated heritage to pursue their ambitions uniquely. The family name no longer dictates who you are; instead, you establish the meaning of that name for all future descendants.

Adding fruit can even make these healthy blends taste like an indulgent treat.

Safe House Apartment [200 CP]

Imagine a pristine and peaceful four-bedroom apartment in a vibrant city of your choosing. This haven is consistently clean, well-supplied, and undisturbed by noise, leaks, or unwanted interruptions. Designed for relaxation, recuperation, and concentration, it even includes a compact gym. You will always find it immaculate, and all expenses are automatically covered.

Silence Headphones [200 CP]

A compact meditation device that helps you enter flow state within minutes. Perfect for pre-fight nerves, post-fight recovery, or finding balance between chaos and control.

Fight IQ Mirror [200 CP]

Imagine a smart mirror that acts as your personal fight coach. As you train, it replays your movements in real-time, meticulously analyzing your technique, tendencies, and areas you might be overlooking. It provides instant visual feedback and offers strategic advice, much like having a trainer right there with you.

Mama's Stove [400 CP]

This cast-iron stove, a legacy from a loving cook, imbues any food prepared on it with comforting, healthy, and restorative qualities. Meals cooked here become emotionally balancing, nerve-soothing, and offer a subtle boost to physical healing. From simple oatmeal to fried chicken, food from this stove provides a familiar and deeply healing experience.

Corner of the Mind [400 CP]

Transform any location – a rooftop, study, or gym corner – into your personal sanctuary for focused thought. This dedicated quiet space travels with you, offering a respite where time decelerates and mental clarity sharpens.

Personal Ride [400 CP]

An eternally fueled and indestructible vehicle perfectly suited to your spirit – be it a motorcycle, muscle car, or vintage cruiser – offering unwavering control, boundless freedom, and profound peace of mind without ever breaking down.

Private Training Space [400 CP]

Your personal gym awaits: a pristine, contemporary space fully equipped for strength training, cardio, and ring work. It's always available, always private. Every piece of equipment is built to endure your most powerful workouts – even if you're capable of planetary destruction, train without restraint. You'll never lack equipment, and gains are not only tripled but also amplified by any boosters you use. All bills are taken care of.

Champion's Mindset Protocol [600 CP]

Cultivate a champion's mindset with a daily mental routine tailored for focus, emotional control, strategic visualization, and confidence. Regular practice provides the same mental advantage held by world-class athletes.

Legacy Sparring Partner [600 CP]

A semi-sentient training AI in a high-tech dummy and/or VR simulation. It mimics top-tier opponents and evolves with your skill level. You'll never run out of challenges again.

Underground Chef's Table [600 CP]

A unique, mobile supper club appears weekly, orchestrated by an enigmatic culinary master. This exclusive dining experience features a multi-course meal custom-designed for your current emotional and physical well-being. The table often hosts surprising company, from adversaries and guides to cherished individuals, whether literal or metaphorical. Beyond sustenance, these meals offer opportunities for introspection and personal development, often leading to enhanced clarity, renewed determination, and at times, a sense of finality.

Legacy Estate [600 CP]

A bespoke, secluded mansion tailored precisely to your desires—be it a contemporary urban residence with panoramic views or a classic cliffside sanctuary, a tranquil escape or a fighter's ultimate domain. This exceptional property boasts a state-of-the-art gym, a dedicated medical recovery suite, a professional-grade kitchen, ample office space, and your own private ring or studio.

More than just a home, this secure and self-sufficient estate anticipates your future needs with subtle, ongoing enhancements. It's a welcoming haven for friends, mentors, and companions alike. Here, within these walls, your legacy takes shape.

DARK HORSE ITEMS

100 CP items free for origin, the rest is 50% off.

Prison-Yard Notebook [100 CP]

This worn, handwritten journal details years of isolated study, revealing brutal training methods, psychological warfare tactics, and extensive fight analysis. It unveils how to leverage unconventional training and exploit predictable patterns in traditional fighters. By examining its contents, one can develop wildly effective, albeit unorthodox, fighting techniques – ideal for a self-taught fighter.

Makeshift Training Rig [200 CP]

This makeshift gym, though appearing to be mere junk with its steel cable jump ropes, hand-taped mitts, and scrap-and-sand punching bags, surprisingly forges champions. Training with these unconventional tools forces your body to work harder and faster than modern equipment, pushing your conditioning beyond normal boundaries. This builds relentless muscles, reflexes, and mental toughness that endure under pressure. Furthermore, this adaptable setup can be taken anywhere.

Ghost on the Card [400 CP]

Your fighting style is a mystery. There's no prior footage, no clear pattern, and no promotional build-up. You maintain a low profile in the media, only appearing when the fight begins. Your online presence is minimal, sparring footage mysteriously disappears, and scouts find nothing to report. This anonymity serves as a strategic advantage. Opponents and their trainers can't study or prepare for you. In an age of constant exposure, you are an unexpected threat that unnerves them.

The Bonebreakers [600 CP]

Crafted from your tattered prison wraps, these rebuilt black-and-gold gloves boast elite craftsmanship. They embody your arduous past and sharp ascent, pushing your training to the extreme to forge raw power, honed reflexes, and a distinctive fighting style—brutal yet precise.

When you step into the ring, any gloves you wear echo the Bonebreakers' spirit. Your strikes relentlessly wear down adversaries, shatter their defenses, and establish a punishing, difficult-to-counter rhythm. Your fighting style reflects your climb to the summit, each blow serving as a stark reminder.

VETERAN ITEMS

100 CP items free for origin, the rest is 50% off.

Fight Card Scrapbook [100 CP]

A worn folder filled with memorabilia from your boxing career – ticket stubs, photos, news clippings, and old contracts – serves as a pre-fight ritual, sharpening your focus. Once per match, accessing these memories grants a fleeting surge of your prime: impeccable timing, impenetrable defense, and relentless offense fueled by fearless confidence.

Old Corner Stool [200 CP]

This simple stool, present since your first battles, acts as a mental anchor wherever it's placed—be it the gym, ringside, or locker room. A brief respite on it offers a moment of calm, banishes weariness, and provides mental clarity, much like the counsel of a seasoned trainer between rounds. You'll rise from it with renewed focus.

The Iron Routine [400 CP]

This carefully honed training regimen, perfected through years of dedicated practice, includes your well-worn gym essentials: bag, shoes, wraps, and tapes. Adhering to this routine builds exceptional endurance, strategic pacing, and refined technique, crucial for extended bouts. Critically, it's a preventative measure, significantly enhancing the body's resilience against fatigue, injury, and the effects of aging.

Champion's Burn [600 CP]

Housed in a weathered silver case, this custom mouthguard fits only you, and only when you are truly committed. Wearing it during training or a fight reignites the memories of your entire journey: every victory, defeat, injury, comeback, and hard-learned lesson. Your body recalls every round fought, honing your instincts to their sharpest.

With it in place, your ring awareness transcends the ordinary. You anticipate shifts in momentum, decipher tells before a punch is thrown, and possess an innate understanding of your remaining stamina. Experience transforms into a potent weapon.

Spectators might perceive a fighter past their prime, but within the ring stands your most formidable self.

TRAINER ITEMS

100 CP items free for origin, the rest is 50% off.

Tape & Timer [100 CP]

A personal trainer's essential gear includes durable hand-wraps, a sharp whistle, and an intuitive gym timer. Keeping these items close at hand enhances your coaching authority, ensuring fighters pay attention, workouts flow seamlessly, and your instructions are always precisely delivered. This small collection of tools is key to maintaining an efficient and well-run training environment.

Trainer's Eye [200 CP]

Slightly cracked prescription sunglasses, ideal for coaching or ringside use. They sharpen your perception of a fighter's physical state, allowing you to precisely identify form issues, persistent injuries, or predictable patterns. A quick look reveals a fighter's weaknesses and how to correct them.

Old School Ring [400 CP]

This portable sparring ring, reminiscent of your early training, can transform any gym, warehouse, or open area into a crucible for forging true fighters. Its mere presence seems to imbue training with an accelerated focus on fundamental skills: footwork, resilience, durability, and stamina. Those who hone their craft within its confines develop a sharper fight IQ, greater tenacity, and unmatched toughness. The lessons learned in this ring are indelible.

The Voice in Their Head [600 CP]

This compact headset and mic system creates a strong sense of personal presence, making your fighter feel like you're right beside them whether you're ringside or miles away. Your voice will always be calm, clear, and able to cut through any background noise. More importantly, it enables real-time coaching, ensuring your guidance lands precisely when needed to steer your pupil through difficult moments or uncertainties. When self-doubt creeps in, it's your voice that will keep them on their feet.

LEGACY ITEMS

100 CP items free for origin, the rest is 50% off.

Inherited Gym Key [100 CP]

A worn key on a chain, both a symbol and a tool, grants access to a family-named boxing gym. This fully equipped and perpetually functioning space offers a personalized, intense, and deeply focused training experience. More than just a gym, it's a sanctuary, a proving ground, and a place to rediscover your fighting spirit.

Bloodline Warm-Up Jacket [200 CP]

A stylish, personalized warm-up jacket displaying your legacy's emblem, colors, or branding—be it honorable, notorious, or disputed. Wearing it publicly elicits powerful responses: supporters gather, and the press takes notice. In training or competition, it enhances morale and endurance when enduring discomfort, particularly under pressure.

Name in Lights [400 CP]

This digital archive and PR system is dedicated exclusively to your name. It's a repository for fight footage, interview excerpts, legacy content, and press coverage. Whether your goal is to shape your public persona, examine your family's background, or gain insight into your opponents, this system provides complete command over your story and a profound understanding of how others are constructing theirs.

Legacy Engine [600 CP]

Crafted for your lineage, these bespoke trunks and gloves, now self-cleaning, self-repairing, and self-adapting, unlock your full potential in training and official bouts. Wearing them ignites your inherited legacy, intensifying your natural strengths—physical prowess, fighting spirit, and mental resilience—when you're under duress. The more formidable the opponent, the stronger your resistance. Victory is secondary to demonstrating the weight of your name. While they don't guarantee invincibility, they ensure your impact is indelible.

COMPANIONS

Inner Circle [200 CP]

You don't walk this road alone. Import up to 8 close companions—friends, family, partners, or loyal teammates. They're not just in your corner; they're part of your story. Each one receives a full companion import, with access to 800 CP budget and options as you (excluding this perk), and can be assigned their own Origin.

Adonis “Donnie” Creed [200 CP]

A fierce competitor with a chip on his shoulder and something to prove. Adonis is driven, loyal, and used to fighting through pain—physical and emotional. Whether he's your sparring partner, tag-team in a bout, or fellow fighter on the rise, he brings intensity and championship spirit to everything he does.

Bianca Taylor-Creed [200 CP]

A gifted musician and producer who brings calm where there's chaos. Bianca understands discipline, fame, and emotional struggle. She's your voice of reason, creative support, and someone who knows how to keep a fighter grounded—especially when everything else gets loud.

Rocky Balboa [200 CP]

The legend himself. Wise, humble, and stubborn in the best way. Rocky doesn't fight anymore, but his experience, heart, and corner advice are second to none. If he's in your camp, you're never alone in the ring. And you'll always hear that voice telling you to go one more round.

Viktor Drago [200 CP]

Silent, powerful, and shaped by bitterness and discipline. Viktor is raw strength paired with surprising depth. He's a brutal training partner and a loyal teammate once his respect is earned. With him on your side, few will question your team's muscle.

Ivan Drago [200 CP]

Hard, unforgiving, and haunted by the past. Ivan offers relentless training and brutal honesty, forged in a life of sacrifice. He won't hold your hand—but if you can endure his methods, he'll make you unbreakable. A grim mentor who respects resilience above all.

Little Duke (Tony Evers Jr.) [200 CP]

A smart, old-school trainer who knows how to pull greatness out of stubborn fighters. Little Duke balances hard truths with patience, and he's not afraid to yell if it gets results. Reliable, grounded, and always focused on the long game.

Original Companions

These are companions that revolve around each origin, and they all cost 200 CP each but are free to take for their origin

Nico "Stray" Morales – (Free For Dark Horse)

Nico, a tenacious southpaw with a dubious record, compensates with unwavering heart. His rough upbringing in group homes and underground gyms forged a fighter driven by sheer grit. Inside the ring, he's unpredictable and thrives under pressure, never backing down from a fight.

He instantly bonds with fighters who have overcome adversity. As a companion, Nico excels when facing challenges, training harder and pushing boundaries when the odds are against him. With some guidance, he can mold someone into a relentlessly determined fighter.

Reggie "Brickjaw" Carson – (Free For Veteran)

Reggie, a former heavyweight contender whose promising career was cut short by a jaw injury, now dedicates himself to training the next generation of fighters while working security. He is a man of quiet strength and unwavering discipline, forged by the experience of being denied his own shot. Reggie's commitment lies in ensuring his fighters never feel overlooked.

As a companion and trainer, Reggie provides straightforward guidance, dependable sparring, and a wealth of strategic insight. Though not one for ostentation, his presence in your corner is invaluable. He offers unwavering support both inside and outside the ring, and when necessary, remains a formidable force himself.

Leo Dray – (Free For Trainer)

Leo, the son of a boxing legend, seeks his own identity outside his father's shadow, burdened by expectations despite his composed exterior. After working with various trainers, he enters boxing on his own terms. Fiercely disciplined and empathetic towards those facing similar pressures, Leo supports others while striving to prove himself. In a team, he bridges talent and experience, offering both motivation and realistic perspective.

Tamara “T.K.” Kim – (Free For Legacy)

As your dedicated companion, T.K. offers top-tier training, customized workout plans, and timely corner advice. She will relentlessly push your boundaries, assemble a strong support team, and provide direct feedback when necessary. If achieving greatness is your goal, she will ensure you work tirelessly to achieve it.

SCENARIOS

Undercard to Undisputed

(Dark Horse Origin Only)

You're a nobody on the promotional material, an afterthought for the fight night lineup. Originally not even on the bill, a stroke of luck—another fighter's withdrawal—hands you a single slot in a low-profile preliminary bout. You're the designated loser, brought in to elevate the local favorite. No training camp, zero publicity, and a virtually unknown person in your corner. The audience barely notices you. The arena lights are practically off.

Yet, you secure a victory. Then another. And another.

A determined but penniless and unpolished newcomer faces a challenging and grueling rise through a boxing division full of ambitious and dismissive fighters. Despite consistently stacked odds, increasing fight difficulty, and growing self-doubt, all eyes are on you.

Nevertheless... you keep winning.

Complete this scenario by seizing a regional championship that everyone deemed unattainable for you, achieving this feat without the advantages of a famous name, significant endorsements, or preferential treatment. Your unwavering spirit is your greatest asset, and suffering is merely a necessary part of the journey.

Reward:

Pressure Makes Diamonds

You are a quiet, intense underdog who thrives under pressure. Being underestimated grants you a subtle, growing advantage, allowing you to shift momentum when it matters most in your personal fights. This resilience provides a +1 bonus to improvisational training and sparring, as your brilliance shines when least expected.

Taped Token: You carry a simple, worn piece of hand wrap, bracelet, or cloth into every fight. It's not for show, but it anchors you, a constant reminder of your journey and your identity. It offers no tangible benefit in the ring, yet it centers you before each bout, radiating a significance that others can sense, even if they don't grasp its meaning.

One More Round

(Veteran Origin Only)

You were supposed to be done. The critics said your legs were gone. The promoters stopped calling. And the new blood? They only know your name from highlight reels.

But now, someone's poked the bear. A loudmouth rookie—young, brash, undefeated—has made it his mission to call you out. Online. In the press. In interviews. He says you're a fossil, a stepping stone. And somehow... It's working. The public's eating it up. You've gone from forgotten to mocked overnight.

You could walk away. You've earned that. Or you could show the world why you survived this long. You've got a limited training window. Old injuries flare up, and your reflexes aren't what they used to be. But your mind's sharper than ever. Your fundamentals are iron. And this isn't just a fight—it's a lesson. Not just for them, but for you, too.

Complete this scenario by stepping back into the ring and defeating the younger fighter—not just through raw power, but through experience, grit, and sheer ring IQ. Make the crowd remember. And make your opponent respect you, win or lose.

Reward:

Perk – Legacy in Motion

You possess a quiet strength born from experience, earning you respect for your discipline, resilience, and presence. Younger fighters and trainers trust you, and rivals are wary. You naturally command respect in athletic, martial, and mentorship contexts. Your words on pain, pressure, and perseverance are influential, and you are known not just for surviving but for remaining a formidable force. This also improves your mental fatigue resistance, injury recovery, and psychological resilience.

You get this Old Gym Key: A weathered key on a frayed ring—once used to unlock the doors of the first gym you ever trained in, or a place that shaped your fighting soul. It doesn't open anything in your current world, but it's always with you, a silent reminder of where it started and how far you've come. Holding it before a fight calms the nerves. Others who notice it—especially veterans and seasoned trainers—often nod in recognition. No words needed. They know.

Scenario: Build a Fighter

(Trainer Origin Only)

They're a mess. Talented, yes—but undisciplined, emotionally unstable, and one loss away from walking off the map completely. Maybe they were injured. Maybe they blew a big match. Maybe they're just angry at the world. Whatever the case, nobody else will take them on. But you see something in them. Or maybe, just maybe... you see yourself.

You've got six months. One shot to take this walking disaster and turn them into something fight-ready. Not just physically—but mentally, emotionally, spiritually. They need conditioning, strategy, stability, and a reason to care. Their biggest fight is looming. Against someone faster. Someone stronger. Someone who should wipe the floor with them.

But not if you do your job.

Complete this scenario by coaching your fighter to victory—not through brute strength, but through preparation, discipline, and mental clarity. If they win, it's your win too. If they lose, but walk out changed and proud of their performance, that's victory in its own right.

Reward:

Perk – Crafted from Fire

You instinctively recognize a fighter's potential, easily seeing their strengths, weaknesses, and drive. In training and conversation, you naturally inspire growth with highly effective regimens and impactful guidance. Your belief transforms prospects into legends, forging a deep, unbreakable bond with a specific protégé who may become a loyal companion.

Charred Whistle: This dented and scorched training whistle, a memento from years of coaching achievements and setbacks, is more than a tool. It might mark a career milestone or a pivotal event for you or your fighters. Though still usable, it now symbolizes the past and serves as a reminder. Carrying it enhances focus and earns quiet respect. Its sound is memorable to those you've trained.

No Name but Yours

(Legacy Origin Only)

Everyone knows your last name. Your face is familiar—even if they’ve never seen you fight. You’ve been called “the next so-and-so” since you were a kid. Reporters follow you. Coaches compare you. Even your sparring partners don’t talk to you like a real person. You’re not starting from the bottom—but you might as well be.

Your journey begins with a major sponsorship, a flashy training camp, and a high-profile debut fight. But there’s a problem: none of this was on your terms. The media campaign, your nickname, even your ring walk music—someone else picked them all. You’re being molded into an image you had no hand in creating. You’ll need to decide: play the part... or break free.

Complete this scenario by fighting and winning in your own way—style, camp, persona, everything. Refuse to be a shadow. Forge your own image in the spotlight, and do it without burning every bridge in your bloodline. Or, burn them if that’s what it takes.

Reward:

Perk – Name of One’s Own

Your core identity is resilient against external manipulation. Attempts to undermine your story and worth will not succeed. Ultimately, your authentic self will be recognized. You naturally command respect, and your reputation quickly grows in new environments. You embody your name, possessing a unique and captivating charisma that draws attention and earns distinct respect in any public sphere.

Engraved Belt Plate: This polished nameplate, meant for a champion’s belt but never awarded, bears your etched name—indelible and clear. Perhaps a stolen win, a fixed fight, or denied by influence kept it from its purpose.

You keep it near, a tangible presence felt by those who see it. It offers no power, but the weight of your name emanates from it, declaring: I claimed this; it wasn’t given.

Custom Scenario: The Weight of Her Name

(Female + Dark Horse Or Legacy Origin Only)

In this custom scenario, you are inserting into a young female boxer named Venus and you're the daughter of a legend—or worse, the student of one. Everyone has an opinion: you're not strong enough, not marketable enough, not "what the sport needs right now." Women's boxing is making moves, but the spotlight's still cold and distant. Your name has weight, but no one seems willing to let you use it. Every win feels like it gets half the recognition. Every loss is amplified.

And then comes the offer.

A high-profile bout overseas. Undercard again, but broadcast. Against a former kickboxer turned crossover darling with an undefeated streak and a PR team built to crush yours. You get one real chance to flip the narrative. But you've got to travel with no team, no backup—just your gloves, your grit, and a legacy you're not sure you even want anymore. They're not watching because they believe in you. They're watching because they expect you to lose.

Complete this scenario by winning the fight in front of a hostile crowd—and making sure they remember your name when the lights go out. Not your father's name. Not your trainer's. Yours.

Reward:

Heavy is the Crown

To thrive as a woman in a resistant world, stand alone and burn brighter. Lack of support, recognition, or status ignites a sharper focus, clearer purpose, and heavier impact in your fight.

Bias, tokenism, or cultural pushback fuel a persistent mental fire. Dismissal sharpens you. You harness the underestimation of crowds, promoters, and opponents, turning it to your advantage. The more you're counted out, the greater your danger. Amid systemic pressure, your resolve hardens. You not only survive the weight but transform it into your triumph.

Bonus: You gain Venus as a companion—an original fighter who walked the same path you did in this jump. She possesses all the perks and items you purchased here, and stands as a living reflection of your rise and also gains Heavy is the Crown.

DRAWBACKS

Alternate Creedverse [+0 CP]

This is Creedverse, yet it isn't. Welcome to the alternate universe option. You can use this drawback to change things about the setting, maybe it's in the 50's or maybe it's in the far future.

Walk in Their Shoes [0 CP]

Assume the role of a chosen canon character from the Creed trilogy - Adonis, Rocky, Damian, Viktor, or another. While you begin with their memories and connections, their abilities, advantages, and standing must be acquired separately. Starting from their initial appearance in the story, your decisions will determine the unfolding events.

Extended Stay [+100 CP]

Congratulations! You're stuck in this world two years longer than your normal jump duration. You cannot leave early. Each time you take this you add two more years to your stay. This is a generous perk so you can only stay for a maximum of 20 years for 4000 CP

Glass Reputation [+100 CP]

You've made a name for yourself... for losing. You're known as a hype machine, not a real contender. Coaches don't take you seriously, gyms don't welcome you, and promoters book you as a stepping stone. Turning public perception around will be an uphill battle every step of the way.

Heavy Hands, Heavy Heart [+100 CP]

You hit like a truck, but your speed and endurance suffer. Your style leans hard on power, but pushing too fast burns your gas tank quickly. Expect to struggle in longer fights, against slick opponents, or when forced outside your preferred rhythm.

Small Gym, Small Dreams [+100 CP]

You train in a back-alley gym with worn-out gear, limited equipment, and maybe two working heavy bags. No media buzz, no fancy tech, and no established trainers. Your entire rise will have to come from grit and hustle—and most won't take you seriously until you've proven yourself the hard way.

Hometown Heat [+100 CP]

You're trapped in a city or neighborhood where everyone knows you—and not all of them want you to succeed. Local politics, broken loyalty, and street expectations follow you everywhere. Every win comes with pressure. Every loss comes with rumors. You can't escape your roots.

Living in the Shadow [+100 CP]

You're constantly compared to someone greater—a legend, a parent, a fallen friend. Every fight, every victory, every word out of your mouth is judged against their legacy. You can never just be good—you have to be better. But no matter how high you rise, their ghost walks beside you.

Spotlight Burns [+200 CP]

You're already famous, but not always for the right reasons. Whether from viral drama, a scandal, or your family name, the world is always watching—and judging. Every misstep is a headline. Your mental state, training, even relationships are public property. The ring is the only place you can be honest—and even that's under review.

Blood Ties [+200 CP]

You have a child, sibling, or dependent relying on you—and the world doesn't stop to let you be there for them. Miss a fight? You don't get paid. Miss a moment in their life? That pain follows you into the ring. This isn't just your career—it's your family's future riding on your fists.

Crooked Circuit [+200 CP]

You're stuck in a shady boxing scene where fights are fixed, rankings are rigged, and managers skim your winnings. Backing out means blacklisting—or worse. You'll need to win hearts and prove your worth in a system built to hold you down.

Underground World [+200 CP]

You didn't come up through sanctioned boxing. You came from bloodied warehouses, bare-knuckle tournaments, and unlicensed fights. Your skills are real, but the boxing world sees you as a thug. Expect judgment, restrictions, and constant uphill battles for legitimacy.

Loose Cannon [+200 CP]

Your mouth moves faster than your sense. You're infamous for saying the wrong thing at the worst time—press conferences, interviews, social media. You're always in hot water, and public perception swings wildly. Endorsements are rare, and promoters treat you like a liability even when you win.

Always One Step Behind [+200 CP]

Everyone else seems to have a head start. Your rivals have better trainers, better facilities, and stronger connections. You're always scrambling to catch up, often training in makeshift gyms, traveling alone, and fighting at disadvantage—until you earn your own spotlight.

Fractured Focus [+300 CP]

Your personal life is a mess. Family, romance, or something darker pulls your mind out of the ring. Fights come with emotional baggage, and mental distractions can cost you rounds. Until you resolve what haunts you—or accept it—you'll always be your own worst enemy.

Chained to the Game [+300 CP]

You signed the wrong contract with the wrong people. Corrupt managers, brutal schedules, or shady promoters control your every move. You can't turn down fights. You can't pick your corner. Backing out means burning bridges or worse. To escape, you'll have to either win everything or break the system itself.

Dead Sport [+300 CP]

In this world, boxing has faded from relevance. MMA dominates the combat scene, and what remains of boxing is underfunded and mocked. Crowds are small, and opportunities are rare. You'll have to work twice as hard just to keep the sport alive—let alone make a name.

No Kings, Only Thrones [+300 CP]

The title scene is chaos. There's no clear champion—only regional warlords, multiple sanctioning bodies, and scattered, unifying belts. Politics and personal feuds decide who gets a title shot. You'll need to navigate rival camps, cutthroat deals, and a fractured system to earn your shot at undisputed glory.

Ghost in the Corner [+300 CP]

You lost someone who mattered—a trainer, partner, or rival—and you carry that loss into every round. Sometimes you hear them. Sometimes you see them. Their death shaped you, and now your biggest fights are internal. The ring is your altar, and every victory is a way to silence the grief... for a little while.

Hollow Glory [+400 CP]

No matter how many wins you stack or titles you take, it never feels like enough. The roar of the crowd fades too fast. The gold doesn't shine long. You chase greatness like it owes you something—but even your biggest moments feel empty. You'll have to decide: is the ring healing you, or breaking you?

Warzone Gym [+400 CP]

Your training space is in a literal warzone—maybe not with bullets, but with chaos. Gang tensions, poverty, or post-disaster ruin surrounds you. Your gym is barely held together, and your daily life involves dodging danger just to train. Great fighters come from rough places—but this place might bury you first.

[+400 CP] Item Loss

Any items that don't fit the theme of what is from this jump cannot be brought into this jumpchain. Jumps like John Wick and Generic Spy Thriller are safe as well as your body mod.

[+400 CP] Power Loss

Similar to the item loss drawback, any powers that don't fit the theme of what is from this jump cannot be brought into this jumpchain. Jumps like John Wick and Generic Spy Thriller are safe as well as your body mod.

[+400 CP] Warehouse Loss

You lose access to your warehouse throughout your stay in this jump, nothing else i can say. If you take this drawback and import companions, you cannot access the warehouse through them.

Rival Ascendant [+400 CP]

One opponent is your equal in every way—physically, mentally, emotionally. They rise just as you do, always one step away. You'll face them in your biggest fights, under the harshest conditions, with the most to lose. There's no shortcut to beating them. One of you will break.

END

You have finished, done, and now it's time to pick what comes next.

STAY

If you wish to remain here then you will get double the starting budget and all drawbacks will fade after 10 years or when your extended stay is finished.

GO HOME

Pretty straight forward, go back home and keep your stuff.

MOVE ON

Go to the next jump and continue this wondrous grand adventure possibly alone or with some friends you made along the way. Can you imagine an archer going to the world of naruto or hell even mass effect?

NOTES

Not much to say here, my second jump. I Made this one because i couldn't find a jump for it, so here we are. I like the creed movies, they always get me hyped up so i made this jump for it. Hope it's actually good and enjoyable.

The custom scenario is there for the female oriented jumpers and i wanted to make a unique companion.

Olympiforged, Signing Out
